Language Contact And Language Conflict In Arabic Routledge Arabic Linguistics:

Language Contact and Language Conflict in Arabic Aleya Rouchdy, 2002 This book contains 17 studies by leading international scholars working on a wide range of topics in Arabic socio linguistics divided into four parts The studies in Part 1 address questions of national language planning in a diglossic situation with a particular focus on North Africa Part 2 explores the relationship of identity and language choice in different Arabic speaking communities living both within and outside the Arab World Part 3 examines language choice in such diverse contexts as popular preaching humour and Arab women s writing Part 4 contains 5 papers in which variation code switching and generational language shift in the Arabic language diaspora in Europe and the USA are the focus The collection as a whole provides wide ranging introduction to key areas of current research which will be of interest to the general sociolinguist as well as the Arabic language specialist

Perspectives on Arabic Linguistics XXXI Amel Khalfaoui, Youssef A. Haddad, 2019-07-15 This volume brings together ten peer reviewed articles on Arabic linguistics The articles are distributed over three parts phonetics and phonology sociolinguistics and pragmatics and language acquisition Including data from North African Levantine and Gulf varieties of Arabic as well as Arabic varieties spoken in diaspora these articles address issues that range from phonetic neutralization and diminutive formation to diglossia dialect contact and language acquisition in heritage speakers The book is valuable reading for linguists in general and for those working on descriptive and theoretical aspects of Arabic linguistics in particular

The Politics of Written Language in the Arab World , 2017-07-31 The Politics of Written Language in the Arab World connects the fascinating field of contemporary written Arabic with the central sociolinguistic notions of language ideology and diglossia Focusing on Egypt and Morocco the authors combine large scale survey data on language attitudes with in depth analyses of actual language usage and explicit and implicit language ideology They show that writing practices as well as language attitudes in Egypt and Morocco are far more receptive to vernacular forms than has been assumed The individual chapters cover a wide variety of media from books and magazines to blogs and Tweets A central theme running through the contributions is the social and political function of doing informality in a changing public sphere steadily more permeated by written Arabic in a number of media

Arabic Sociolinguistics Reem Bassiouney, 2020-01-10 The second edition of Arabic Sociolinguistics offers an extended commentary on the important findings of new critical approaches to language and society in Arab speaking countries Following a recent wave of political upheavals in the Middle East the book engages with latest academic works that relate language to power and conflict in the Arab world In addition to thoroughly updated accounts of diglossia code switching gender language policy and language variation in the region Reem Bassiouney discusses the most important recent development in the field critical sociolinguistics in a new dedicated chapter that challenges the tendency of applying Western linguistic methods and terms to superdiverse communities By covering the key developments of linguistic theories and contexts with up to date examples to help explain the phenomena under discussion this is the most comprehensive book on Arabic sociolinguistics today Arabic in the City Catherine Miller, 2007 Filling a gap in the literature currently available on the topic this edited collection is the first examination of the interplay between urbanization language variation and language change in fifteen major Arab cities The Arab world presents very different types and degrees of urbanization from well established old capital cities such as Cairo to new emerging capital cities such as Amman or Nouakchott these in turn embedded in different types of national construction It is these urban settings which raise questions concerning the dynamics of homogenization differentiation and the processes of standardization due to the coexistence of competing linguistic models Topics investigated include History of settlement The linguistic impact of migration The emergence of new urban vernaculars Dialect convergence and divergence Code switching youth language and new urban culture Arabic in the Diaspora Arabic among non Arab groups Containing a broad selection of case studies from across the Arab world and featuring contributions from leading urban sociolinguistics and dialectologists this book presents a fresh approach to our understanding of the interaction between language society and space As such the book will appeal to the linguist as well as to the social scientist in general

Politics of Arabic in Israel Camelia Suleiman, 2017-09-26 Explores the contradictory position of Arabic being both the official language and marginalized in Israel Arabic became a minority language overnight in Israel in 1948 as a result of the Palestinian exodus from their land that year Although it remains an official language along with Hebrew Israel has made continued attempts to marginalize Arabic on the one hand and securitize it on the other Camelia Suleiman delves into these tensions and contradictions exploring how language policy and language choice both reflect and challenge political identities of Arabs and Israelis She explores the historic context of Arabic in Israel the attempts at minoritising Orientalising and securitising the language the Linguistic Landscape LL of Arabic in Israel the effect of globalization modernization and citizenship status on the status of Arabic Hebrew as a language choice of semi autobiographic production of three Israeli authors who are native speakers of Arabic and lastly a comparison with the status of Arabic in both Jordan and Palestine West Bank and Gaza Strip where Arabic is the official language

Key Features Combines a variety of qualitative methods not commonly used together into the study of Arabic in Israel including ethnography interviews with journalists and students media discussion of the language situation of Israel and analysis of the production of knowledge on Arabic in Israeli academia Provides a comparative analysis of the language situation in Israel with that in Jordan and Palestine Employs studies in post colonial theory theory of linguistic anthropology and sociolinguistic concepts of indexicality and linguistic landscape

Handbook of Terminology Abied Alsulaiman, Ahmed Allaithy, Kara Warburton, 2019-01-29 The current volume represents a revival of Arabic translation and terminology studies These disciplines have been dominated by Western scholarship in recent decades but in truth their historical tradition as a whole owes a great debt to Arabic scholarship The first systematic translation activity ever organized was under the Abbasids in Baghdad in the 9th Century CE and Arabic domination continued for several centuries before the tide turned In this collection the importance of the ongoing translation and terminology movement in the Arab world is revealed through the works of some of the most distinguished scholars who investigate a wide range of relevant topics from the making of the first ever Arabic monolingual dictionary to modern day localization into Arabic Arabic terminology standardization as well as legal medical Sufi and Quranic terms issues with both cultural and economic ramifications for the Arab world are thoroughly examined completing the solid framework of this rich tradition that still has a lot to offer

Perspectives on Arabic Linguistics XXXIV Mahmoud Azaz, 2023-01-06 This volume brings together eleven peer reviewed articles on Arabic linguistics The contributions fall under three areas of linguistics Phonology and phonetics syntax and semantics and language acquisition language contact and diglossia They reflect some various perspectives and emphases Including data from North African Levantine and Gulf varieties Standard Arabic as well as Arabic varieties spoken in diaspora these articles address issues that range from sibilant merging raising lexicalization agreement to diglossia dialect contact and language acquisition in heritage speakers The book is valuable reading for linguists in general and for those working on descriptive and theoretical aspects of Arabic linguistics in particular

Language and Identity in Modern Egypt Reem Bassiouney, 2015-01-27 Focussing on nationalist discourse before during and after the revolution of 2011 Reem Bassiouney explores the two way relationship between language in Egyptian public discourse and Egyptian identity Her sources include newspaper articles caricatures
