This book reconsiders the role of translation and own language use in the EFL English as a Foreign Language classroom. It shows prospective teachers how to use the learners' own language and translation optimally. The author surveys current research about the EFL classroom and presents both a theoretical framework and a didactic model for using translation and learners' mother tongues. This is done through an action research project assessing the proposed didactic model for optimal translation practice in English Language teaching (OTP) in ELT through its integration into teacher education. The book will be of interest to students and researchers in the areas of Translation Studies and Applied Linguistics, particularly EFL, ESL, TEFL, and TESOL, as well as educators and designers of pre-service training programmes for language teachers. Pragmatics

Applied to Language Teaching and Learning Lucis Fernández Amaya, Manuel Padilla Cruz, María de la O Hernández López, Reyes Gómez Morón, 2020-07-24. This volume presents a wide-ranging overview of key theoretical and practical issues, empirical research, and various analyses of pragmatic phenomena that will certainly be most useful and helpful to students and researchers in pragmatics and other linguistic disciplines, and of course to L2 teachers. It is divided into five parts that include chapters addressing cognitive issues on L2 teaching, how and what to teach when dealing with specific speech acts, intercultural aspects of communication, the teaching of languages for academic and specific purposes, and some other methodological issues on pragmatics teaching. Contextual Learning, New Headway 4e Intermediate Student
