Changing Perspectives on International Education Patrick O'Meara, Howard D. Mehlinger, Roxana Ma Newman, 2001 More than 40 years ago recognizing that higher education would have to take responsibility for educating Americans about other world cultures and societies Congress passed the National Defense Education Act later known as the Higher Education Act Title VI of this act has provided extensive support for foreign languages and area studies development in the nation's universities and colleges As a result millions of Americans have been able to acquire knowledge about other parts of the world Today there are new issues demands and perspectives Americans are more likely than ever to encounter different cultures business practices histories ideologies and ways of life In addition the United States is increasingly called upon to intervene or mediate in regional and local crises far beyond its borders U S educational institutions must continue to help citizens to have informed opinions about complex international problems Changing Perspectives on International Education is designed to be used by administrators and planners in U S education It covers the field of international studies as it has developed in the United States from its beginnings and accomplishments under Title VI to the current paradigmatic shifts taking place in research teaching and outreach A major section is devoted to internationalizing the curriculum of K 12 schools It concludes with a look at future trends and how they may affect international scholarship and training in the new century It also provides an extensive bibliography of international resources

Critical Thinking Within the Library Program John

Spencer, Christopher Millson-Martula, 2014-10-20 While academic librarians frequently discuss critical thinking and its relationship to information literacy the literature does not contain an abundance of sources on the topic Therefore this work provides a current and timely perspective on the possible roles of critical thinking within the library program The work contains a variety of approaches likely to benefit the practicing librarian It begins with a review of the literature followed by theoretical approaches involving constructivism and the Socratic method Readers will find pieces on the integration of critical thinking into the first year experience and course specific case studies as well as a selection on a campus wide critical thinking project In each of the pieces librarians are exploring new ways to meet their instructional goals including the goal of teaching critical thinking skills to students across the curriculum This book was originally published as a special issue of College Undergraduate Libraries Enhancing Teaching and Learning Jean Donham, 1998 A guide for effecting change in a library media program by integrating it into the school s instructional program Donham library and information science U of Iowa addresses how all the components of the school environment the principal the students the curriculum the community can interact with the library media program He also discusses collaboration between the library media specialist and teachers collection development and maintenance instructional assessment and technology s place as a component of the library media program Appends a section on suggested further reading Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Resources in Education ,1996 Collaborative Learning Through Computer Conferencing Anthony R.

Kaye, 2012-12-06 The idea for the Workshop on which this book is based arose from discussions which we had when we both attended an earlier and more broadly based NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Computer Supported Collaborative Learning directed by Claire O Malley in Maratea Italy in 1989 We both felt that it would be interesting to organise a second Workshop in this area but specifically concerned with the use of computers and networking telematics as communication tools for collaborative learning outside the formal school setting We were particularly interested in examining the ways in which computer conferencing can be used for collaboration and group learning in the contexts of distance education adult learning professional training and organisational networking And we wanted to ensure that we included in the scope of the Workshop situations in which learning is a primary explicit goal e g an online training programme as well as situations where learning occurs as a secondary even incidental outcome of a collaborative activity whose explicit purpose might be different e g the activities of networked product teams or task groups Another goal was to try to bring together for a few days people with three different perspectives on the use of computer conferencing users researchers and software designers We hoped that if we could assemble a group of people from these three different constituencies we might collectively be able to make a small contribution to real progress in the field
