IEEE Standard for Communication-based Train Control (CBTC) Performance and Functional Requirements ,1999

Performance and functional requirements for a communications based train control CBTC system are established in this standard A CBTC system is a continuous automatic train control system utilizing high resolution train location determination independent of track circuits continuous high capacity bidirectional train to wayside data communications and trainborne and wayside processors capable of implementing automatic train protection ATP functions as well as optional automatic train operation ATO and automatic train supervision ATS functions

Communications-Based Train Control (CBTC) Lars Schnieder,2025-03-17 Urban rail systems are increasingly reaching their limits as traffic demand rises The safety and performance of these transport systems are significantly determined by the control and safety technology used Expanding the transport offering requires efficient signaling systems known as Communications Based Train Control CBTC systems In this book the author presents the system environment into which CBTC systems are integrated within urban transport companies It shows how the individual safety functions of CBTC solutions contribute to hazard control and how technical systems progressively take over more functions from humans with increasing grades of automation Finally non functional requirements for CBTC systems such as safety availability performance and cost effectiveness are discussed and factors for the successful execution of complex signaling renewal projects are highlighted

Secure Communications Based Train Control (CBTC) Operations Mark W. Hartong,2009 Communications Based Train Control CBTC provides positive train separation over speed protection and protection for roadway workers Current system designs do not include trust management systems to provide support for security rendering CBTC communications vulnerable to malactors Traditional train control methods and the architecture of CBTC systems are studied to determine specific vulnerabilities of CBTC systems and the associated system security requirements The security requirement are then used to derive an appropriate trust management system Existing work on safe cross domain dispatch operations has not considered the impact of these trust management systems on allowable traffic delays and system velocity or related them to train dynamics A relationship between train dynamics and trust management delay is presented to allow engineering estimates of the practicality of potential trust management systems to support rail operations while preventing collisions An algorithm for the safe and secure scheduling of trains through the interchange point between is provided The algorithm supports positive train separation under a worst case traffic scenario allowing for safe and secure scheduling while reducing traffic delays The approach presented is illustrated by an example and is independent of the specific security management CBTC and dispatch systems
