- An Immunogen (immunogenic) elicits an adaptive immune response e.g. influenza virus
- An Antigen (Ag) is a specific immune target (usually referring to recognition by adaptive cells) e.g. hemagglutinin on surface of influenza virus.
- Levels of protection from pathogens:
 - First line: Physical barriers that viruses and bacteria must cross. Skin covers and mucous membranes that line digestive, respiratory, reproductive tracts, cover ~400 m²
 - Second line: Innate immune system. Macrophages (Greek for "big eater"), neutrophils, natural killer (NK) cells, Cytokines (hormone-like proteins that mediate inflammation), Complement proteins
 - Third line (vertebrates only): Adaptive immune system, adapts to defend against specific pathogens using variable receptors.
 - B cells make antibodies, each individual B cell makes a specific antibody to a specific antigen
 - T cells mediate cellular responses using variable receptors (T cell receptors; TCRs)

- Innate Immunity:
 - Present at birth and for life
 - No specificity (i.e. can respond to many stimuli)
 - Not modified by stimulus (i.e. no memory, not enhanced on subsequent exposure)

Modeling and Dynamics of Infectious Diseases Zhien Ma, 2009 This book provides a systematic introduction to the fundamental methods and techniques and the frontiers of OCo along with many new ideas and results on OCo infectious disease modeling parameter estimation and transmission dynamics It provides complementary approaches from deterministic to statistical to network modeling and it seeks viewpoints of the same issues from different angles from mathematical modeling to statistical analysis to computer simulations and finally to concrete applications Mathematical Approaches for Emerging and Reemerging Infectious Diseases: Models, Methods, and Theory Carlos Castillo-Chavez, Sally Blower, Pauline van den Driessche, Denise Kirschner, Abdul-Aziz Yakubu, 2012-12-06 This IMA Volume in Mathematics and its Applications MATHEMATICAL APPROACHES FOR EMERGING AND REEMERGING INFECTIOUS DISEASES MODELS AND THEORY METHODS is based on the proceedings of a successful one week workshop The proceedings of the two day tutorial which preceded the workshop Introduction to Epidemiology and Immunology appears as IMA Volume 125 Mathematical Approaches for Emerging and Reemerging Infectious Diseases An Introduction The tutorial and the workshop are integral parts of the September 1998 to June 1999 IMA program on MATHEMATICS IN BIOLOGY I would like to thank Carlos Castillo Chavez Director of the Mathematical and Theoretical Biology Institute and a member of the Departments of Biometrics Statistics and Theoretical and Applied Mechanics Cornell University Sally M Blower Biomathematics UCLA School of Medicine Pauline van den Driessche Mathematics and Statistics University of Victoria and Denise Kirschner Microbiology and Immunology University of Michigan Medical School for their superb roles as organizers of the meetings and editors of the proceedings Carlos Castillo Chavez especially made a major contribution by spearheading the editing process I am also grateful to Kenneth L Cooke Mathematics Pomona College for being one of the workshop organizers and to Abdul Aziz Yakubu Mathematics Howard University for serving as co editor of the proceedings I thank Simon A Levin Ecology and Evolutionary Biology Princeton University for providing an introduction Population Biology of Infectious Diseases R.M. Anderson, R.M. May, 2012-12-06 for the design of control programs in extreme cases as discussed below by Fine et al this volume and elsewhere it can happen that immunization programs although they protect vaccinated individuals actually increase the overall incidence of a particular disease The possibility that many nonhuman animal populations may be regulated by parasitic infections is another topic where it may be argued that conventional disciplinary boundaries have retarded investigation While much ecological research has been devoted to exploring the extent to which competition or predator prey interactions may regulate natural populations or set their patterns of geographical distribution few substantial studies have considered the possibility that infectious diseases may serve as regulatory agents 1 8 On the other hand the many careful epidemiological studies of the transmission and maintenance of parasitic infections in human and other animal populations usually assume the host population density to be set by other considerations and not dynamically engaged with the disease see for example 1 2 With all these considerations in mind the Dahlem Workshop from which this book derives aimed to weave strands together testing theoretical analysis against empirical facts and patterns and identifying outstanding problems in pursuit of a better understanding of the overall population biology of parasitic infections For the purpose of the workshop the term parasite was defined widely to include viruses bacteria protozoans fungi and helminths
