Language and Literacy in Refugee Families Chatwara Suwannamai Duran, 2016-11-24 This book examines the agreements and discrepancies between public understanding and assumptions about refugees and the actual beliefs and practices among the refugees themselves in a time of increasing mobility fuelled by what many call refugee crisis. With a focus on language and literacy practices among recently arrived Karenni refugee families in the United States this book explores the multilingual repertoires and accumulated literacies acquired through the course of the refugees' multiple movements. Through the lens of transnationalism the author emphasizes that despite their numerous struggles the refugees daily and diligently use and strategize their old emerging and evolving linguistic and literacy resources to make the best of their resettlement. This book will shed light on the language and literacy practices among transnational and diasporic communities, minoritized or marginalized groups for researchers in these fields as well as practitioners and resettlement agencies working with refugee populations.

It also contains a variety of research accounts about the specific factors which have an effect on proficiency together with a theorised measurement of proficiency in second language research. It aims to bring together researchers who are interested in L3 acquisition and who are at the same time working within the generative framework, i.e. Chomsky's Universal Grammar (UG) approach to language acquisition.
