International Management David H. Holt, 1998 Management is about people working in organizations and international management is about people from many cultures working together competing against one another or trying to cope with one another's differences. Consequently, this textbook is about people from many walks of life from affluent countries and from struggling regions who are part of a global society. This book is written primarily for business students who have had foundation courses in management, organizational behavior, and economics. The author's objectives for this textbook are simply to provide a human relations approach to managing internationally and to emphasize the differences among peoples of the world that make an international career rewarding.

Supervision Edwin C. Leonard, Raymond L. Hilgert, 2004. This book provides the skills and knowledge base that students need to become supervisors in today's changing environment. The text focuses on practical skills in examining the functions of management and how those skills are applied to both individuals and teams. Changes in the workplace and the world at large constantly present supervisors with new challenges.

Negotiation Analysis H. Peyton Young, 1991. H. Peyton Young has brought together the foremost experts from a variety of disciplines that have a bearing on negotiation analysis. Using techniques and examples drawn from fields including game theory, decision theory, economics, and experimental psychology, the contributors to Negotiation Analysis emphasize careful, systematic thinking about the negotiation process and show how recent work in these areas lends insight into an activity that plays such a central role in modern business, diplomacy, politics, and the law. Each chapter in Negotiation Analysis focuses on a different aspect of negotiation, building a comprehensive exploration of the process in a wide variety of situations. The major topics are the design of incentives for communicating information, the uses of third parties, the role of fairness arguments in bargaining, the analysis of trade-offs, the effects of cognitive biases, the dangers of escalation, and the dynamics of coalition formation. The book has been carefully designed and edited to provide a challenging but accessible source of guidance and understanding for readers familiar with introductory theory who wish to deepen their knowledge and to grasp ideas that relate more closely to the real and complicated situations in which most negotiations are conducted.
