INTRODUCTION

Alcohols are organic compounds in which, as their functional group, one or more hydrogen atoms in an alkane have been replaced by a group of -OH (hydroxyl). Alcohols fall into various classes depending on how the -OH group is positioned on the carbon atom chain. Alcohol can be oxidized to aldehyde, ketone, and carboxylic acid. The product formed from the oxidation depends on the classes of alcohol used as reactant.

Aldehydes and ketones are carbonyl compounds. They contained a carbonyl group; a double bond of carbon-oxygen, (C=O). Oxygen is far more electronegative than carbon, and thus has a strong tendency to pull electrons towards itself in a carbon - oxygen bond. That makes the bond between carbon and oxygen extremely polar. Nucleophiles can attack the partially positive carbon-atom in the carbonyl group. Aldehydes have the RCHO structure, in which R is an alkyl or aryl group. The hydrogen atom attached to the carbonyl group leads to different oxidation behavior in aldehydes compared to that seen with ketones. Ketones meanwhile have the RR'CO structure where R and R' are an alkyl group attached to both ends of carbon in a carbonyl group.
