Approach to Marketing Using Edward T. Hall and Geert Hofstede Matthias Boeing, 2013-05-27 Companies that do not adapt to the new global realities will become victims of those that do In this quote Theodor Levitt a former professor at the Harvard Business School points out that companies all over the world need to deal with a process which has changed the way they carry on a business in many ways The process namely globalisation takes advantages as well as disadvantages not only for the business world but also for the individual The importance to face globalisation has always been there but it has increased with the evolving stages of globalisation Ever since this process started companies have tried to derive advantage from globalisation while at the same time they had to deal with the disadvantages For marketers in particular this process seems to offer a lot of potential for the exploration of new markets and customers However the questions determining the success or failure of a marketing campaign are more complex than in domestic marketing Accordingly the terms international and global marketing are strongly connected to globalisation and have become a key factor for the success of companies Corporations that want belong to these successful multi national companies MNC or global players certainly have to deal with the different issues that come along with marketing products in other countries These can have a significant impact on international operations but also on the overall performance of a company Since a company s approach to these issues determines the success or failure in marketing a product abroad these situations have to be addressed at an early stage Among others cultural differences are one of the major obstacles that have to be considered in international marketing Every culture has its own individual values behaviours ways of thinking lifestyle and language which make it unique Accordingly companies have two different possibilities to deal with that process At first standardisation an identical

The development of an international marketing strategy for ZEVIA on the Soft-Drink market in Germany Viktoria Arnold, 2016-11-15 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 9 2 language English abstract This thesis represents an in depth market insight on the German beverage market for the American company Zevia Considering the theoretical background particularly focusing on the issue of standardization or adaptation of an international marketing strategy the author suggests in the event of entering the German market to especially adapt 3 out of the 4 marketing mix elements namely price promotion and place Special attention should be drawn to an alteration of Zevia s promotion and price policies However the German beverage market constitutes a tough external environment for the realization of a market penetration and awareness creation for Zevia s soft drink Overall the German market can be described as saturated diversified and one conferring high bargaining power to supermarkets All these factors represent an obstacle for Zevia to enter this market despite the German food and beverage industry being highly receptive to new and innovative products This openness derives from the trend detected in Germany and globally towards the increased request for health and wellness products However apparently despite this trend the German market for low calorie lemonades is declining and the perception of stevia as a sweetener is rather negative These facts have also been proven in a thesis intern online survey Zevia is recommended to only penetrate the German beverage market under specific circumstances named in this thesis while considering the author s proposals in reference to its marketing mix elements

Contingency Factors of Marketing-Mix Standardization Roxana Codita,2011-02-07 This study addresses the marketing mix standardization issue in the Central and Eastern European context Special consideration is given to the construct of product cultural specificity for which a new measure is proposed

EBOOK: Marketing Management Christian Homburg,Sabine Kuester,Harley Krohmer,2012-12-16 Marketing Management A Contemporary Perspective provides a fresh new perspective on marketing from some of the leading researchers in Europe The book offers students and practitioners the comprehensive coverage they need to make the right decisions to create and implement highly successful marketing strategies This exciting new edition includes updated cases and combines scholarly international research with relevant and contemporary examples from markets and brands across the world The authors combine their experience as researchers and industry consultants to provide the conceptual and theoretical underpinning of marketing and empirical research helping students to understand how marketing concepts can be applied and implemented The book covers a full range of industries including business to customer business to business services marketing retailing and international marketing from companies around the globe

International Marketing Rakesh Mohan Joshi,2005 International Marketing is a comprehensive textbook specially designed to meet the requirements of MBA students specializing in marketing It explores the key concepts of international marketing through numerous managerial examples caselets and detailed case studies

BOOK JACKET International Marketing Philip Cateora,2010 International Marketing Masaaki Kotabe,2006 Product standardisation versus product adaptation in international marketing Manfred Daberto,2008-03-04 Essay from the year 2003 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 2 University of Manchester language English abstract The core of a firm s international operations is a product or service This can be defined as the complex of tangible and intangible elements that distinguishes it from the other entities in the marketplace Czinkota Rinkainen 1995 262 Product can be defined as it s a bundle of satisfactions or utilities the buyer receives This includes its form taste colour odour and texture how it functions in use the package the label the warranty manufacturer s and retailer s servicing the confidence or prestige enjoyed by the brand the manufacturer s reputation the country of origin and any other symbolic utility received from the possession or use of the goods Cateora Graham 1999 355 356 The success of the firm depends on how it s possible to differentiate from other competitors But the key factors of success can vary from one country to another country Therefore for the firm it is important to choose the right strategy between the product adaptation and product standardisation Product adaptation means that the firm adapts the product to the local markets It is the process of modifying products for different countries and regions or designing new products for foreign markets Product standardisation means that the firm sells and advertises a standardized product in the international context But which strategy is the better one In the following the author wants to explain the different advantages and disadvantages and work out which strategy is the best for certain situations because it depends on the situation which strategy is better Readings in Management Studies ,2008-11

International Marketing Strategy Isobel Doole,Robin Lowe,2004 This text looks at context techniques and strategies involved in successful international marketing It sets out to provide a good balance of the theory and implementation behind international marketing
