Conceptual Questions

(Answers to odd-numbered Conceptual Questions can be found in the back of the book, beginning on page ANS-xx.)

1. What is the direction of the electric current produced by an electron that falls toward the ground?
2. Your body is composed of electric charges. Does it follow, then, that you produce an electric current when you walk?
3. Suppose you charge a comb by rubbing it through your hair. Do you produce a current when you walk across the room carrying the comb?
4. Suppose you charge a comb by rubbing it through the fur on your dog's back. Do you produce a current when you walk across the room carrying the comb?
5. An electron moving through a wire has an average drift speed that is very small. Does this mean that its instantaneous velocity is also very small?
6. Are car headlights connected in series or parallel? Give an everyday observation that supports your answer.
7. Give an example of how four resistors of resistance R can be combined to produce an equivalent resistance of R .
8. Is it possible to connect a group of resistors of value R in such a way that the equivalent resistance is less than R ? If so, give a specific example.
9. What physical quantity do resistors connected in series have in common?
10. What physical quantity do resistors connected in parallel have in common?
11. Explain how electrical devices can begin operating almost immediately after you throw a switch, even though individual electrons in the wire may take hours to reach the device.
12. Explain the difference between resistivity and resistance.
13. Explain why birds can roost on high-voltage wire without being electrocuted.
14. List two electrical applications that would benefit from room-temperature superconductors. List two applications for which room-temperature superconductivity would not be beneficial.
