La Segmentation

« Un marché d'un pays constitue souvent d'une partie hétérogène, c'est-à-dire de clients qui ne réagissent pas de la même manière aux mêmes offres et les mêmes services. Un marché peut être composé de multiples, voire de multiples d'acteurs. Connaître l'hétérogénéité permet de sélectionner un sous-marché et de développer une stratégie commerciale ?
Une réponse : la segmentation.

1. L'intérêt de la segmentation

Pour mieux appréhender la demande, il faut la découper en sous-ensembles homogènes. La segmentation est utilisée en effet en plusieurs domaines : de la taille du marché vers les segments.

On adapte la demande marketing qui consiste à étudier les besoins et les attitudes de la clientèle et à réaliser un produit qui offre un avantage, basé à un niveau plus précis d'analyse de marché : celle des segments. Envisager toute de suite un avantage compétitif et proposer une offre pour répondre à des besoins spécifiques particuliers.

• Pourquoi segmenter ?

« Un segment peut mieux appréhender la demande, ce qui a impacté la clientèle par segmentation, le peut connaître mieux les clients, ce qui les différencie et les besoins identifiés.

« On segmente pour créer des offres d'activités personnalisées spécifiques.

« On segmente pour mieux répondre aux attentes des clients qui regrettent une concurrence. Face à une concurrence élevée de l'offre, il faut faire mieux et différencier des concurrents de façon à savoir répondre à leurs attentes et de manière plus adaptée. Par cette différenciation (services, offre, ...), les consommateurs favorisent les produits de différenciation des produits. L'objectif pour l'entreprise est de créer un avantage concurrentiel comme on le voit dans une offre plus adaptée vers les consommateurs.
