

The Program

The Master of Science degree program in Geoinformatics offers opportunities for advanced study and research designed to prepare students for leading roles in industry, government, research and/or academic institutions. The educational objective of this program is to produce graduates who are capable of applying geospatial science and technology to solve problems in industry or academia as well as assuming a leadership role in their chosen employment field. This is a multidisciplinary program administered by the Department of Geological Sciences. It encompasses faculty and resources from the College of Sciences, College of Liberal and Fine Arts, College of Engineering, College of Public Policy, College of Architecture, Construction and Planning, as well as individual faculty from other academic departments.

MS in Geoinformatics

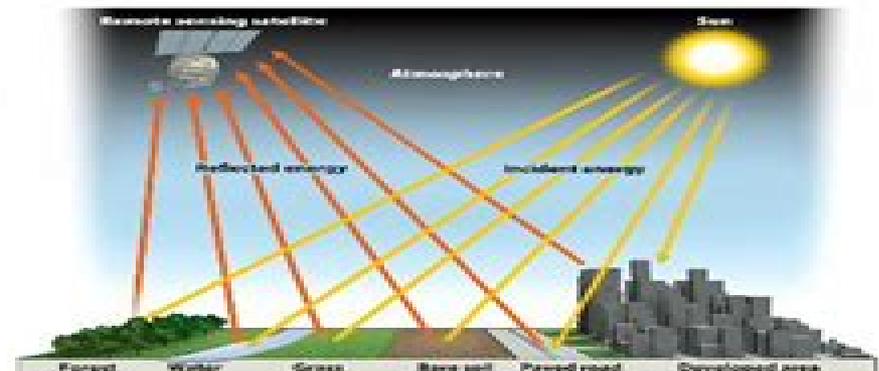

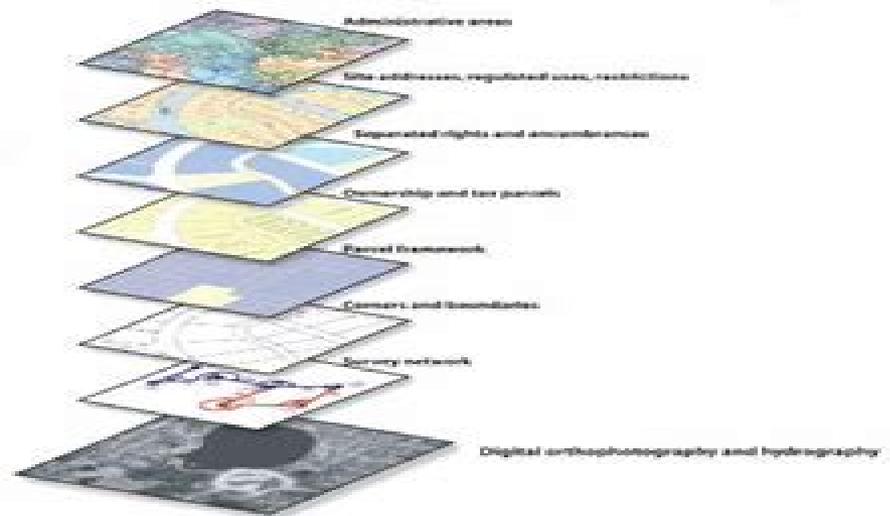

Research

The cross-disciplinary nature of the program utilizes spatial data (geographic and/or remote sensing data) to solve a real-life problems related to locations and changes in space and time, with wide applications in oil and gas industry, water resources and management, land use and land cover, climate change and cryosphere, archaeology, political science, urban planning and transportation, demography, public health, disaster response and relief effort, geospatial intelligence, and cyber-security.

Big data and cloud computing are the two new aspects of the program's collaborative research and applications, since geospatial and remote sensing data are big in nature and need advanced technology and methods for data mining, processing, storing, sharing, and distribution.

Facilities

The program has special laboratory facilities for geographic information systems, remote sensing, and field instruments: GPS, EM31, snow radar, terrestrial lidar, thermal infrared camera, ground penetrating radar, spectroradiometer, micro rain radar, rain gauge, and monitoring equipment for hydrological investigations.
