INTRODUCTION

In the last decade, retailing sector in India has seen a vast transformation from traditional retailing to modern retailing. The traditional retail consists of small retailers like local Kirana shops, general stores, medical stores, footwear stores, apparel shops, hand-cart hawkers and footpath vendors. As per investment commission of India, there are 15 million such retail outlets in India (Knight Frank, 2010). High economic growth, increasing size of middle class, high urbanisation rate and availability of personal credit have all contributed to large number of consumers shopping at the malls. This encouraged many developers jump into the bandwagon and start building malls. There was a rush to be there amongst the many malls which then had high footfalls. There was no proper planning, research, marketing and positioning strategy in place before getting into the mall business for many developers. This resulted in many of the malls not performing up to expectations. Some have high vacancy levels (Retailer, 2007), some have witnessed retailers leaving for the competitors, some have low footfalls and a few malls have closed down. However the malls which were strongly positioned are still doing well and are fully operational. This research has been conducted to find out the existing positioning strategies of malls, factors influencing positioning of malls, perceptions of shoppers regarding the
