

Accounting chapter 6 examples plus answers

An example of a mixed cost is the price paid to rent a moving van if that price includes a fixed fee plus a charge per mile ($50 plus $.30 per mile)

- For a minute think abt. A fast-food hamburger restaurant. What would be some ex. Of variable cost for this restaurant
 - Variable cost would include hamburger patties, chesses, buns, wrappers, and condiments.
- What would be some ex. of fixed costs for a fast- food hamburger restaurant?
 - Fixed cost would include costs of the restaurant building (such as rent or depreciation, property taxes, insurance) and the restaurant manager's salary.
- What would be some ex. of mixed costs for a fast- food hamburger restaurant?
 - If a franchise fee was a flat dollar amt. plus a percentage of sales, such as 5,000 per month plus 2% of sales, this would be a mixed cost.

The equation you need to conduct a high low analysis are:

Variable cost/unit =

Change in total cost / change in activity driver

	power cost	machine hours used
March	10100	330
April	9800	250
may	9950	270
June	11300	350

Fixed cost = total cost - (variable cost/unit x amt. of the activity driver incurred)

Variable cost/ unit =

Cost at highest volume - cost at lowest volume / highest volume - lowest volume

Which month is the low month? Which month is the high month

- April and June

What is the difference in power cost between the low month and high month?

- $11,300 - 9,800 = 1,500$

Which is the difference in machine hour (the activity driver) used between the low month and the high month

- $350 - 250 = 100$ hrs

What is the estimated variable cost per unit for power

- $1,500 / 100 \text{ hrs} = 15$ per machine

What is the estimated fixed cost for power?

- April:
 $9,800 - 15 * 250 = 9,800 - 3,750 = 6,050$
- June:
 $11,300 - 15 * 350 = 11,300 - 5,250 = 6,050$
