Biodeterioration of Stone Surfaces Larry St.Clair, Mark Seaward, 2012-11-02 This is a timely volume in view of the considerable interest currently shown in the preservation of our cultural heritage and the extensive and growing literature on the subject Unfortunately the latter is to be found in a wide variety of published sources some aimed at a very specific readership and therefore not all that accessible to those who need this resource The present volume draws together a spectrum of biodeterioration work from across the world to provide an overview of the materials examined and the methodologies employed to elucidate the nature of the problems as well as an extensive and current bibliographical resource on lichen biodeterioration Biodeterioration of historical and culturally important stone substrata is a complex problem to be addressed Easy risk free solutions are simply not available to be dealt with by other than a wide range of expertise Successful resolution of this issue will inevitably require a multidisciplinary effort where biologists work in close cooperation with ecologists geologists geochemists crystallographers cultural property conservators archaeologists anthropologists and historians in order to recommend the most effective management scheme The advantage of this approach is obvious multidisciplinary management teams with good leadership can ask more appropriate questions while developing much more thoughtful and informed decisions

The Conservation and Presentation of Mosaics: At What Cost? Jeanne Marie Teutonico, Leslie Friedman, Aïcha Ben Abed, Roberto Nardi, 2017-09-01 In recent years funding for the conservation of cultural heritage has become increasingly difficult to obtain and this trend shows no sign of changing significantly in the foreseeable future The twelfth triennial meeting of the International Committee for the Conservation of Mosaics held in Sardinia in October 2014 focused on the theme of cost broadly considered relating specifically to the preservation and presentation of the world's mosaic heritage This handsome abundantly illustrated volume provides a comprehensive record of the conference The volume's sixty seven papers and posters comprising contributions from more than one hundred leading experts in the field reflect the conference's principal themes cost methods of survey and documentation conservation and management education and training backing materials and techniques presentation and display and case studies Papers are presented either in English French or Italian there are abstracts in English and either French or Italian for all entries The volume will be of interest to conservators site managers and others responsible for conserving the mosaic heritage especially in these challenging times Arch Bridges A. Sinopoli, 2020-12-17 Modern structural engineering surprises us with the mastery and certainty with which it plans and carries out daring projects such as the most recent metal or concrete bridges whether they be suspension or arch bridges On the other hand little is yet known about the state of knowledge of construction science and techniques which well before the arrival of modern methods based on the mechanics of deformable continua made it possible in the past to erect the vaulted masonry structures that we have inherited The fact that these have lasted through many centuries to our time and are still in a fairly good state of conservation makes them competitive as far as stability and durability are concerned with those constructed in other materials Although it is known that the equilibrium of the arch is guaranteed by any funicular whatsoever of the loads contained inside the profile of an arch finding the unique solution is not such a certainty In other words the problem of the equilibrium of vaulted structures is Poleni's problem the one for which the Venetian scientist was able to give an exemplary solution on the occasion of the assessment of the dome of St Peter's Arch Bridges focuses on the main aspects of the debate about the masonry arch bridge History of structural mechanics and construction theoretical models analysis for assessment numerical methods experimental and non destructive testing maintenance and repair are the topics of the Conference The breadth and variety of the contributions presented and discussed by leading experts from many countries make this volume an authoritative source of up to date information Architectural Conservation Studio Calogero Bellanca, 2020-01-01 The book provides a series of reflections on the study of architectural preexistences that have matured during the almost thirty five years of study and research in Italy and Europe Furthermore it shows how the discipline of restoration of monuments is all based in architecture intended in its many faceted meanings The methodical approach to the restoration of historic architecture consists in the historical critical analysis central nucleus of the study of architecture and is composed by specific in depth thematic sessions the historical iconography the analysis of the constructive features the constructive model the volumetric layout metrological and proportional analysis the theme of the figurative model the analysis of masonry the theme of decorations spolia and reemployed comparisons analogies and differences the reading of the architectural organism through the synthesis of the monument in time The author and his team have collected thematic essays on key issues that have great interest not only in Italy but also abroad From the general concepts to examples of the application of Italian consolidated restoration methodology to the analysis and conservation of historic architecture
