Special Needs and Early Years Provision Hannah Mortimer, 2001. Special Needs and Early Years Provision provides an overview of the current issues including research, practice and legislation involved in meeting special educational needs for the early years age group. It aims to promote reflective practice and links theory to practice in an engaging and readable style. The book also relates to children at all levels of special needs rather than focusing on the more severe cases. Numerous examples are provided from a variety of early years settings and the text is peppered with exercises, pen pictures and summary sections. This thoroughly up-to-date guide will be valuable to early years practitioners across all sectors.

The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1918 Training to Work in the Early Years Lesley Abbott, Gillian Pugh, 1998. In the late 1990s context of change and development in the early years field, this text argues that the availability of appropriate training for all working with young children is of paramount importance. Research shows that one of the most important factors determining the quality of early childhood care and education is the quality of the adults who work with them. The book builds on recommendations made by the Rumbold Committee, the RSA Start Right Report and the National Commission for Education in highlighting issues, development and opportunities. More importantly, it signals ways in which government policy must change in order to meet the requirements which the authors recommend. The book should be of interest to trainers, students and practitioners concerned to explore ways in which the need for appropriate initial and continuing professional development can be met.
