English Language Education Policy in the Middle East and North Africa Robert Kirkpatrick, 2016-12-15. This volume offers insights on English language education policies in Middle Eastern and North African countries through state of the art reports giving clear assessments of current policies and future trends, each expertly drafted by a specialist. Each chapter contains a general description of English education policies in the respective countries and then expands on how the local English education policies play out in practice in the education system at all levels in the curriculum, in teaching and in teacher training. Essays cover issues such as the balance between English and the acquisition of the national language or the Arabic language, as well as political, cultural, economic and technical elements that strengthen or weaken the learning of English. This volume is essential reading for researchers, policy makers and teacher trainers for its invaluable insights in the role of each of the stakeholders in the implementation of policies. TEFL Tourism Hayley Stainton, 2019-07-22. There is evident lineage between the concepts of teaching English as a foreign language (TEFL) and tourism, represented through evocative marketing material, the commoditisation of the TEFL product, teacher motivations and experiences. Yet to date there has been no recognition of these links within industry or academia. This book introduces the concept of TEFL tourism, outlining the scale of the sector and the rapid commercialization of TEFL teaching across the world, locating it as an emerging form of niche tourism. The text outlines the organisation types and geographical locations, emphasizing the commodification of English language teaching. It also outlines the types of TEFL tourists, the complexities of international education links with various tourism forms and sustainability considerations of the industry. The book will appeal to tourism academics and students, in particular those with interests in educational and volunteer tourism, as well as sustainable tourism and commodification. The TKT Course Kay Bentley, 2010. English Language 2007 S.
