Development Betrayed Richard B Norgaard, 2006-05-18 Modernity promised control over nature through science material abundance through technology and effective government through rational social organization Instead of leading to this promised land it has brought us to the brink of environmental and cultural disaster Why has there been this gap between modernity s aspirations and its achievements Development Betrayed offers a powerful answer to this question Development with its unshakeable commitment to the idea of progress is rooted in modernism and has been betrayed by each of its major tenets Attempts to control nature have led to the brink of environmental catastrophe Western technologies have proved inappropriate for the needs of the South and governments are unable to respond effectively to the crises that have resulted Offering a thorough and lively critiques of the ideas behind development Richard Norgaard also offers an alternative co evolutionary paradigm in which development is portrayed as a co evolution between cultural and ecological systems Rather than a future with all peoples merging to one best way of knowing and doing things he envisions a future of a patchwork quilt of cultures with real possibilities for harmony

Humanism Betrayed Graham Good, 2001 In Humanism Betrayed Graham Good offers a defence of liberal humanism against the illiberal trends political and intellectual that dominate today's university He uses the McEwen Report episode at the University of British Columbia to illustrate the current political climate in universities showing how due process was neglected in favour of ideological inquisition The intellectual trends Good discusses include what he calls the New Sectarianism which rejects individuality in favour of collective identities based on race gender and sexual preference Presentism which rejects the notion of history as a continuous narrative in favour of seeing the past as interpretable in any way that suits the political interests of the present and a Hermeneutic of suspicion in which literary texts are seen as masks for discreditable political motives Good demonstrates that these trends culminate in the prison like Acarceral vision of Michel Foucault and his followers the view that culture is ideology and that culture does not free humans but incarcerates them Good contrasts this view with the liberal vision of culture and society represented by Northrop Frye concluding with an analysis of the relationship between anti humanist theory among academics and the managerial practices of university administrations which he argues neglect or reject basic humanistic values such as free individuality aesthetic greatness and autonomous inquiry
