Rem Koolhaas:

Delirious New York Rem Koolhaas, 2014-07-01 Since its original publication in 1978 Delirious New York has attained mythic status. Back in print in a newly designed edition, this influential cultural, architectural, and social history of New York is even more popular, selling out its first printing on publication. Rem Koolhaas's celebration and analysis of New York depicts the city as a metaphor for the incredible variety of human behavior. At the end of the nineteenth century, population information and technology explosions made Manhattan a laboratory for the invention and testing of a metropolitan lifestyle: the culture of congestion and its architecture. Manhattan, he writes, is the 20th century's Rosetta Stone, occupied by architectural mutations: Central Park, the Skyscraper, utopian fragments, Rockefeller Center, the UN Building, and irrational phenomena. Radio City Music Hall, Koolhaas interprets and reinterprets the dynamic relationship between architecture and culture in a number of telling episodes of New York's history, including the imposition of the Manhattan grid, the creation of Coney Island, and the development of the skyscraper. Delirious New York is also packed with intriguing and fun facts and illustrated with witty watercolors and quirky archival drawings, photographs, postcards, and maps. The spirit of this visionary investigation of Manhattan equals the energy of the city itself.

Rem Before Koolhaas Rem Koolhaas, 2026-03-03 A compact primer on Koolhaas's early, lesser-known journalistic career. Before the Dutch architect Rem Koolhaas, born 1944, cofounded the architectural firm OMA in 1975, published seminal works of postmodern theory such as Delirious New York (1978), gained a professorship at Harvard University, and cofounded Volume Magazine (2005), he was a journalist. Between 1963 and 1968, Koolhaas regularly contributed to the Dutch weekly Haagse Post. His specialty was the interview. Through his deft powers of observation and analysis, the young Koolhaas employed the form to make visible power dynamics and cultural shifts. This pocket-size volume is the first to compile Koolhaas's interviews for the Haagse Post, reproducing their original layouts. Rather than treating this period as a mere precursor to his architectural career, Rem Before Koolhaas presents it as culminating in a valuable body of critical work that lent itself to his later endeavors.

Rem Koolhaas/OMA Rem Koolhaas, Francisco Asensio Cervera, Aurora Cuito, Office for Metropolitan Architecture, 2002 Rem Koolhaas, Rotterdam 1944 studied architecture at the AA in London, where he went on to become a lecturer, and at the IAUS in New York during Peter Eisenman's time there. Koolhaas has always been connected with the theory of architecture as a lecturer at the innovative AA, as a speaker, and with his published work Delirious New York, a retrospective manifesto for Manhattan (1978) and the recent S M L XL (1995). In 1972, Koolhaas set up the OMA Office for Metropolitan Architecture, whose name clearly expresses the planning intentions of the team, comprising Koolhaas, Elia and Zoe Zenghelis, and Madelon Vriessendorp.

Rem Koolhaas/OMA Roberto Gargiani, 2006 Six Canonical Projects by Rem Koolhaas Ingrid Böck, 2015 Junkspace with Running Room Rem Koolhaas, Hal Foster, 2016-09-13 Junkspace first appeared in the Harvard Design School Guide to Shopping (2001), a vast compendium of text, images, and data concerning the consumerist transformation of city and suburb.

from the first department store to the latest mega mall The architect Rem Koolhaas itemized in delirious detail how our cities are being overwhelmed His celebrated jeremiad is updated here and twinned with Running Room a fresh response from the cultural critic Hal Foster Junkspace describes the bleak and featureless world of capitalism while Running Room seeks to find a space within the junk in which the individual might still exist OMA - Rem Koolhaas living Rem Koolhaas, Arc en rève centre d'architecture, 1998 Countryside Rem Koolhaas, AMO., 2020 From animals to robotization climate change to migration Rem Koolhaas presents a new collaborative project exploring how countryside everywhere is transforming beyond recognition The pocketbook gathers in depth essays spanning from Fukushima to the Netherlands Siberia to Uganda an urgent dispatch from this long neglected realm revealing its radical potential for changing everything about how we live

Rem Koolhaas as Scriptwriter Helena Huber-Doudová, 2023-10-30 This book is the first survey of a new field in architecture theory script writing Rem Koolhaas as Scriptwriter explores the intersection of architecture film and text using the example of the working method of scriptwriter Rem Koolhaas and the Office for Metropolitan Architecture OMA This book argues that Koolhaas formulates his approach to architecture on the basis of the written sketch or script and questions its transformations into built environment in the oeuvre of OMA Divided into two parts the first part is a theoretical outline that explores the notion of scriptwriting in film It provides in depth insights into the definition and historical evolution of the script as a blueprint Hollywood script avant garde script storyboard the relation to auteur theory and the difference between the script and scenario It surveys the first original script for the Exodus of the Voluntary Prisoners of Architecture The second part offers a unique perspective on the urban development of West Berlin in which Koolhaas created a metropolitan script or blueprint that spans the period 1971 1989 from his first visit to Berlin to the fall of the Berlin Wall This book will be of interest to researchers and students of architectural theory urban history and film studies Rem Koolhaas, OMA + AMO / Spaces for Prada Rem Koolhaas, 2021 Source Books in Architecture No 14 Rem Koolhaas OMA AMO Spaces for Prada is the most recent volume in the Source Books in Architecture series Among the topics discussed in the book are the long standing relationship with Prada and how the early objectives in that relationship have both maintained and shifted An underlying theme to the conversations held with students and faculty of the Knowlton School community is the topic of architect client relationships their history their problems and how they have contributed to the discipline over time Explicitly a focus of the conversation is a number of projects that OMA has developed or completed with Prada a large number of which are installation scale environments that manifest in the form of runway shows and exhibitions The challenge of such projects is to retain a commitment to the political and cultural agenda that OMA embeds in the larger and permanent buildings Given the ephemerality and role of these environments as literal backgrounds to highlighted events the projects are ideal scenarios in which to develop an architecture that lacks the permanence of buildings while still carrying potency and contributing to larger cultural discussions involving for example event place concept product staging the crowd lighting and materiality

Source Books in Architecture No 14 contains project documentation from the OMA and Prada archives transcripts from Koolhaas conversations with students at the Knowlton School at The Ohio State University and commentary and critique from architects critics and theorists
