Approaches to sustainable development in cities of the South have focused too exclusively on narrow technical aspects of environmental protection with no benefit to most residents in cities and peri urban areas However in many countries of the South the disengagement of government along with budgetary constraints a reliance on cost recovery mechanisms within structural adjustment packages and increasing disparity between poor and rich further reduces access by the poor to even the most rudimentary services Development and Cities focuses on the political social and economic viability of new or alternative approaches to urban management in the South that aim to increase access to adequate levels of basic services and healthy living and working conditions for all Case studies include cities in Argentina Cuba India Pakistan Peru the Philippines Tanzania and Zimbabwe

Design Control A. C. Hall,1996 This book proposes a new way forward The need for negotiation requires that design goals and objectives be made explicit They should be distinguished clearly from the criteria for their fulfilment any advice on how they could be achieved and the legal and administrative procedures to be employed A new concept the design area is proposed in place of uniform land use notations Its use would enable design strategies including mix of uses to be shown the stated objectives to vary from place to place and variations in the degree of intervention to be made explicit In addition a start is made on developing a more structured language with which to express changes to urban form To make the plans more accessible to the negotiating parties and the general public new developments in technology can come to our aid
