Eternal Capitalist Trickery

Jean-François Bouchard, 2025-10-23 The concentration of power and wealth in the hands of a small predatory class repeated crises the inability of politicians to influence the course of events worsening inequalities and the end of growth are the hallmarks of today s capitalism Since the fall of communism capitalism has had no competitors Will it die one day Not in the short term the system is stronger than governments its worst scoundrels enjoy widespread impunity and while economists have little or no understanding of how it works no clear alternative is emerging Above all no one seems to be seriously considering a fundamental reform of modern financial capitalism So do we have to live with it or not Curiously a century earlier this same situation had been analyzed by Nikolai Dimitrievich Kondratieff a famous economist and a committed player in the Russian Revolution of 1917 Kondratieff was executed by Stalin in 1938 for having scientifically demonstrated the eternity of capitalism Would he have the same opinion about capitalism today

Two Strategies for Europe

Frédéric Bozo, Susan Emanuel, 2002-07-15 This timely book explores the often stormy French U S relationship and the evolution of the Atlantic Alliance under the presidency of Charles de Gaulle 1958D1969 The first work on this subject to draw on previously inaccessible material from U S and French archives the study offers a comprehensive analysis of Gaullist policies toward NATO and the United States during the 1960s a period that reached its apogee with de Gaulle's dramatic decision in 1966 to withdraw from NATO's integrated military arm. This launched the French policy of autonomy within NATO which has since been adapted without having been abandoned. De Gaulle's policy often has been caricatured by admirers and detractors alike as an expression of nationalism or anti-Americanism. Yet Frederic Bozo argues that although it did reflect the General's quest for grandeur it also and perhaps more important stemmed from a genuine strategy designed to build an independent Europe and to help overcome the system of blocs. Indeed the author contends de Gaulle's actions forced NATO to adapt to new strategic realities. Retracing the different phases of de Gaulle's policies Bozo provides valuable insight into current French approaches to foreign and security policy including the recent attempt by President Chirac to redefine and normalize the France NATO relationship. As the author shows de Gaulle's legacy remains vigorous as France grapples with European integration a new role within a reformed NATO and relations with the United States.
