Advanced Timber Structures Yves Weinand, 2016-12-19 Wood is usually perceived as a traditional material. However, the properties of this material have now for some time made it possible to design free shapes and highly complex structures. Today, the wood laboratory of the EPF Lausanne, which was originally founded by Julius Natterer, is testing the production of origami structures, ribbed shells, fabric structures, and curved panels under the guidance of Professor Weinand using digital calculation and computer-aided processing methods. The research results are tested in prototypes which demonstrate the potential applications in large-scale timber buildings. By exploring the hitherto unused potential of wood as a construction material, this book provides an exciting and inspiring outlook on a new generation of timber buildings. ABAQUS/Explicit, 1998. Proceedings of the ASME Design Engineering Division ..., 2004. Diese Forschungsergebnisse werden in Prototypen erprobt, die so die Anwendungsmöglichkeiten für großformatige Holzbauten anschaulich machen.
