The Known World Edward P Jones:

The Known World Edward P. Jones, 2003-08-14 Henry Townsend a black farmer bootmaker and former slave has a fondness for Paradise Lost and an unusual mentor William Robbins perhaps the most powerful man in antebellum Virginia s Manchester County Under Robbins s tutelage Henry becomes proprietor of his own plantation as well as of his own slaves When he dies his widow Caldonia succumbs to profound grief and things begin to fall apart at their plantation slaves take to escaping under the cover of night and families who had once found love beneath the weight of slavery begin to betray one another Beyond the Townsend estate the known world also unravels low paid white patrollers stand watch as slave speculators sell free black people into slavery and rumors of slave rebellions set white families against slaves who have served them for years An ambitious luminously written novel that ranges seamlessly between the past and future and back again to the present The Known World weaves together the lives of freed and enslaved blacks whites and Indians and allows all of us a deeper understanding of the enduring multidimensional world created by the institution of slavery

The Scary Mason-Dixon Line Trudier Harris, 2009-06-01 New Yorker James Baldwin once declared that a black man can look at a map of the United States contemplate the area south of the Mason Dixon Line and thus scare himself to death In The Scary Mason Dixon Line renowned literary scholar Trudier Harris explores why black writers whether born in Mississippi New York or elsewhere have consistently both loved and hated the South Harris explains that for these authors the South represents not so much a place or even a culture as a rite of passage Not one of them can consider himself or herself a true African American writer without confronting the idea of the South in a decisive way Harris considers native born black southerners Raymond Andrews Ernest J Gaines Edward P Jones Tayari Jones Yusef Komunyakaa Randall Kenan and Phyllis Alesia Perry and nonsouthern writers James Baldwin Sherley Anne Williams and Octavia E Butler The works Harris examines date from Baldwin s Blues for Mr Charlie 1964 to Edward P Jones s The Known World 2003 By including Komunyakaa s poems and Baldwin s play as well as male and female authors Harris demonstrates that the writers preoccupation with the South cuts across lines of genre and gender Whether their writings focus on slavery migration from the South to the North or violence on southern soil and whether they celebrate the triumph of black southern heritage over repression or castigate the South for its treatment of blacks these authors cannot escape the call of the South Indeed Harris asserts that creative engagement with the South represents a defining characteristic of African American writing A singular work by one of the foremost literary scholars writing today The Scary Mason Dixon Line superbly demonstrates how history and memory continue to figure powerfully in African American literary creativity

Re-forming the Past A. Timothy Spaulding,2005 The slave experience was a defining one in American history and not surprisingly has been a significant and powerful trope in African American literature In Re Forming the Past A Timothy Spaulding examines contemporary revisions of slave narratives that use elements of the fantastic to redefine the historical and literary constructions of American slavery In their rejection of mimetic representation and traditional historiography postmodern slave narratives such as Ishmael Reed s Flight to Canada Octavia Butler s Kindred Toni Morrison s Beloved Charles Johnson s Ox Herding Tale and Jewelle Gomez s The Gilda Stories and Samuel Delaney s Stars in My Pocket like Grains of Sand set out to counter the usual slave narrative s reliance on realism and objectivity by creating alternative histories based on subjective fantastic and non realistic representations of slavery As these texts critique traditional conceptions of history identity and aesthetic form they simultaneously re invest these concepts with a political agency that harkens back to the original project of the 19th century slave narratives In their rejection of mimetic representation and traditional historiography Spaulding contextualizes postmodern slave narrative By addressing both literary and popular African American texts Re Forming the Past expands discussions of both the African American literary tradition and postmodern culture
