Transatlantic Merger Cases Charles Smitherman, 2007. Despite the introduction of the U.S. EC merger review co-operation initiative in the early nineties, transatlantic mergers remain a minefield for all those involved. For the parties, there is the lack of legal certainty and its attendant costs and reputation; for the regulators, there is the political toll of reconciling conflicting competition policies. Charles Smitherman reviews merger regulation frameworks on both sides of the Atlantic. The author identifies areas of substantive and procedural differences as they exist today and explores the viability of convergence to aid the efficiency of the merger process through bilateral and domestic enhancements. Throughout the work, the emphasis is placed on pragmatic solutions rather than those of academic and oft unobtainable nature. The backbone of the work is made up of the analysis of eight of the biggest U.S. EC merger cases between 2000 and 2004. American Inventors, Entrepreneurs, and Business Visionaries, Revised Edition Charles Carey Jr., 2020-03-01. What is the origin of competitiveness? Is being competitive part of God's plan for us? How did Bible characters successfully cope with or enact competitiveness? Can we find purpose or lasting blessings through competitiveness? Should a Christian be competitive? Humanity in general is on a treadmill of competitiveness. We are ensconced in the belief that success is tantamount to being competitive, and vice versa, we are encouraged to constantly compare ourselves to others and aim to be ahead of our neighbour in whatever capacity we fancy. However, there are no universal social guidelines for what constitutes competitiveness. The boundary of what is acceptable under the guise of competitiveness is dependent on each individual's conscience and moral proclivity. The author, Esther Emmanuel, in this book explores the issue of competitiveness within the context of the Christian faith. This book is made up of 15 chapters and subdivided into five parts. 1. In the beginning explores God's purpose for individual lives; the nature of individual gifting and the emergence of the competitive spirit in the Garden of Eden 2 Competitiveness in the family uses the biblical narratives on Jacob and Esau Joseph and his brothers Hannah and Peninnah to highlight emotional issues associated with competitiveness in this context e g sibling rivalry jealousy envy schadenfreude emotional detachment from family members and the power of supplication3 Competitiveness in the workplace the stories of Saul and David Mordecai and Haman Daniel and the Babylonians is used to explore the importance of social status control pride self esteem narcissism and the paradigm of competitive collaboration 4 Competitiveness in the church explores how competitiveness underrates serendipity as well as the teachings of Jesus on this subject 5 Should a Christian be competitive examines the role of fear in competitive situations and explores the pursuit of excellence as an alternative to competitivenessIt reveals several vital issues such as inadvertent labelling of behavioural or emotional disorders as competitiveness elements of Christian values that cannot be compromised in a competitive scenario strategies for coping with competitive situationsThis book provides insightful bible centred counsel to people who are inherently competitive or those facing difficulties with relationships within their family church or workplace as a result of overt competitiveness It offers clarity strength and wisdom necessary for such individuals to move on and to fulfil God s destiny and purpose for their lives Yachting ,2005-06 Free Gift Inside!!
