Fah,2021-06-21 The best education system provides the best education to all children irrespective of their ethnic group or socio economic background Malaysian education system aims to ensure that all children irrespective of who their parents are and where they are schooling will be equipped with the basic needs to succeed in their future educational endeavours and eventually in daily life and the workforce Malaysian education system strives to narrow the socio economic gap between rural and urban as well as gender in student achievement by 2020 Reducing socioeconomic disparities between rural and urban are likely to have an impact on the achievement gap among students The education system in Malaysia will actively support social mobility by providing additional supports to those who are less fortunate and thus ensure socio economic background of students is no longer a determinant factor of their success in life However in the effort to realize equity in education to all children in Malaysia we are confronted with all sorts of problems and challenges Empirical studies with scientific explanations will provide insights into how education for underprivileged primary and secondary students in Malaysia can be further improved to ensure equal accessibility to quality education This book attempts to bring together prominent researchers and educators in the field of rural education to share their findings experiences reflection and vision on the emerging trends in rural education in the country The book will be of special interest to academics and researchers in the field of rural education curriculum designers policy makers educators teacher educators trainee teachers school principals school inspectorates undergraduate and postgraduate students in universities and colleges in the country Natural Science Education, Indigenous Knowledge, and Sustainable Development in Rural and Urban Schools in Kenya Darren M. O'Hern, Yoshiko Nozaki, 2014-05-05 Through a multi sited qualitative study of three Kenyan secondary schools in rural Taita Hills and urban Nairobi the volume explores the ways the dichotomy between Western and indigenous knowledge operates in Kenyan education In particular it examines views on natural sciences expressed by the students teachers the state s curricula documents and schools exam oriented pedagogical approaches O'Hern and Nozaki question state and local education policies and practices as they relate to natural science subjects such as agriculture biology and geography and their dismissal of indigenous knowledge about environment nature and sustainable development They suggest the need to develop critical postcolonial curriculum policies and practices of science education to overcome knowledge oriented binaries emphasize sustainable development and address the problems of inequality the center and periphery divide and social cultural and environmental injustices in Kenya and by implication elsewhere In an era of environmental crisis and devastation education that supports sustainability and survival of our planet is needed Within a broader sociopolitical context of post colonialism and globalization this volume points out possibilities and challenges to achieve such an education The authors propose a critical postcolonial approach that acknowledges the contextual and situational production of all knowledge and that de dichotomizes indigenous from Western scientific knowledge Eric Rico Gutstein Professor Curriculum and Instruction University of Illinois at Chicago USA

Teaching in Tension Frances Vavrus, Lesley Bartlett, 2013-06-13 In recent years international efforts to improve educational quality in sub Saharan Africa have focused on promoting learner centered pedagogy However it has not flourished for cultural economic and political reasons that often go unrecognized by development organizations and policymakers This edited volume draws on a long term collaboration between African and American educational researchers in addressing critical questions regarding how teachers in one African country Tanzania conceptualize learner centered pedagogy and struggle to implement it under challenging material conditions One chapter considers how international support for learner centered pedagogy has influenced national policies Subsequent chapters utilize qualitative data from classroom observations interviews and focus group discussions across six Tanzanian secondary schools to examine how such policies shape local practices of professional development inclusion gender and classroom discourse In addition the volume presents an analysis of the benefits and challenges of international research between Tanzanian and U S scholars illuminating the complexity of collaboration as it simultaneously presents the outcome of joint research on teachers beliefs and practices The chapters conclude with questions for discussion that can be used in courses on international development social policy and teacher education This volume written by a multi national team of scholar practitioners makes an important contribution to our understanding of learner centered teaching and collaborative educational research Based on an intensive investigation in Tanzania of a professional development program and teachers efforts to conceptualize and implement a globally promoted pedagogical approach the authors illustrate and critically analyze how these practices are enabled and constrained by cultural lenses power relations and material conditions Importantly they also examine reflexively how cultural power and resource issues shaped their struggle to engage in a collective praxis of qualitative inquiry The tensions referenced in the title sparked valuable insights which will be useful to educators researchers and policy makers Mark Ginsburg FHI 360 and Teachers College Columbia University
