

Activity – English and Metric Linear Measurements

Purpose

Students will compare length/height as a measurement by finding each the side by using the English unit, and by identifying a relationship to gauge the approximate or exact measurement in centimeters both on drawings of three-dimensional and two-dimensional objects.

Students will understand the differences between systems. They will understand the need to give a number assigned to that the measurement is always in that language. They will understand the importance of the unit (length) and the unit of mass. They will be able to convert, round, and compare measurements and understand the skills in the fields of science, mathematics, engineering.

Students will be able to compare their measurements with the English system and use both measurement systems. They will be able to use the unit of length that is the English system of measurement. They will understand that the units of measurement are used to describe measurements. They will understand the importance of measurement systems to provide and understanding of the world around them, which helps them to understand the world.

Equipment

- Ruler (English)
- Calculator
- Paper (English)
- Activity 1.1 for English Measurements

Procedure

This activity will provide you with a foundation of measuring skills and simple mathematical calculations.

Complete the following questions by plotting your answers in the space provided.

All three measurements should be in the same unit. Round to the nearest whole number if the result is not a whole number.

For example, if you have a measurement of 1.5 and the result is 1.5, you would round to the nearest whole number. If the result is 1.5, you would round to the nearest whole number.

Use measurement systems and measurements to describe the world around you. You will need to use the English system and the metric system. Use the English system to describe the world around you and the metric system to describe the world around you.
