

Franklin Introduction To Language Exercise Answers

When writing the introduction to the assignment, the teacher is making a choice to be a language specialist interested in addressing certain types of issues associated with the use of English among their own students and students worldwide. This choice is based on the teacher's own interests and the interests of the students. The teacher is also making a choice to address certain issues and to ignore others. It is important to be aware of these choices and to be able to explain them.

The teacher's role is to provide a safe and supportive environment for students to explore and discuss their own and others' experiences. The teacher should be aware of the power dynamics in the classroom and work to create a more equitable and inclusive environment. The teacher should also be aware of the cultural and linguistic differences among students and work to create a more culturally and linguistically responsive environment.
