Questioning Causality Rom Harré, Fathali M. Moghaddam, 2016-01-25 Covering a topic applicable to fields ranging from education to health care to psychology this book provides a broad critical analysis of the assumptions that researchers and practitioners have about causation and explains how readers can improve their thinking about causation In virtually every laboratory research center or classroom focused on the social or physical sciences today the concept of causation is a core issue to be questioned tested and determined Even debates in unrelated areas such as biology law and philosophy often focus on causality What made that happen In this book experts from across disciplines adopt a reader friendly approach to reconsider this age old question in a modern light defining different kinds of causation and examining how causes and consequences are framed and approached in a particular field Each chapter uses applied examples to illustrate key points in an accessible manner The contributors to this work supply a coherent critical analysis of the assumptions researchers and practitioners hold about causation and explain how such thinking about causation can be improved Collectively the coverage is broad providing readers with a fuller picture of research in social contexts Beyond providing insightful description and thought provoking questioning of causation in different research areas the book applies analysis of data in order to point the way to smarter more efficient practices

Consequently both practitioners and researchers will benefit from this book

Neo-Aristotelian Perspectives on Contemporary Science William M.R. Simpson, Robert C. Koons, Nicholas J. Teh, 2017-10-19 The last two decades have seen two significant trends emerging within the philosophy of science the rapid development and focus on the philosophy of the specialised sciences and a resurgence of Aristotelian metaphysics much of which is concerned with the possibility of emergence as well as the ontological status and indispensability of dispositions and powers in science Despite these recent trends few Aristotelian metaphysicians have engaged directly with the philosophy of the specialised sciences Additionally the relationship between fundamental Aristotelian concepts such as hylomorphism substance and faculties and contemporary science has yet to receive a critical and systematic treatment Neo Aristotelian Perspectives on Contemporary Science aims to fill this gap in the literature by bringing together essays on the relationship between Aristotelianism and science that cut across interdisciplinary boundaries The chapters in this volume are divided into two main sections covering the philosophy of physics and the philosophy of the life sciences Featuring original contributions from distinguished and early career scholars this book will be of interest to specialists in analytical metaphysics and the philosophy of science

Death, Dying, and Bereavement in a Changing World Alan Kemp, 2018-11-02 In this introductory text on thanatology Alan Kemp continues to take on the central question of mortality the centrality of death coupled with the denial of death in the human experience Drawing from the work of Ernest Becker Death Dying and Bereavement in a Changing World provides a multidisciplinary and multidimensional approach to the study of death putting extra emphasis on the how death takes place in a rapidly changing world This new second edition includes the most up to date research data and figures related to death and dying New research on the alternative death movement natural disaster related deaths and cannabis as a form of treatment for life threatening illnesses and updated research on physician assisted suicide as well as on grief as it relates to the DSM 5 have been added

Beyond Bullying Jonathan Fast, 2016 Why are some kids magnets for bullying Why do gay teens commit suicide four times as frequently as straight teens Why do we have more men and women in prison than any other country in the world Why are school shootings and acts of domestic terrorism on the rise What could possibly be the theme that ties all of these questions together which provides a window into so many aspects of the darker aspects of human behavior In a word shame
