Towards an Understanding of how Organisations Create Shared Value Atusaye Kajera Mughogho,2020 Society is facing complex economic social and environmental challenges which traditional business models are unable to help resolve due to their focus on short term financial performance To address societal challenges new concepts and organisational models including creating shared value CSV have emerged in response to calls for greater responsibility CSV relates to the creation of value for the organisation whilst simultaneously creating value for society Despite its importance the literature found that shared value was a relatively new concept and theoretically underdeveloped Moreover the phenomenon was mostly being analysed at the project level as opposed to the organisational level As such the purpose of the research was to understand how organisations create shared value at the business model level This study is exploratory in nature and the findings are based on 14 semi structured interviews with senior managers with knowledge and experience of shared value within South African listed organisations across six industries The study utilised a thematic data analysis technique to draw themes and insights to develop an understanding of how organisations create shared value at the business model level The study extends and refines the shared value theory which the literature considered as being at a nascent stage Specifically the study applies a business model perspective to shared value which has been predominantly analysed at the project level Importantly the study develops a shared value business model SVBM conceptual framework which enhances the understanding of creating shared value at the business model level as well as provides practical guidance for management on how to operationalise a shared value strategy

The Contribution of Porter and Kramer's Concept of Creating Shared Value to CSR Theory Natalie Junge,2011-12-09 Master s Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 0 Liverpool John Moores University language English abstract Following the HBR article Creating Shared Value by Michael Porter and Mark Kramer published in January 2011 the author witnessed an online debate on the subject suggesting that CSV was hardly any more than a strategic move to support FSG the consultancy run by Michael Porter and Mark Kramer It was suggested that Porter and Kramer offered nothing new but gave CSR a new name But there were also voices claiming that it would be great if CSV was reality So there seemed to be something about CSV that some people got and others denied What was it In this dissertation the ideas laid down in CSV are evaluated and appraised against related concepts of corporate social responsibility Special focus lies on the aspects Porter and Kramer used to separate CSV from CSR justification value and concepts for practical application The main part of the study consists of a literature review on related topics It is laid down that basic ideas of CSV have already been introduced in CSR e g with corporate citizenship sustainability doing business at the bottom of the pyramid or community relations Philosophical considerations on corporate responsibility and political correlations give reason to regard CSV a competitive tool rather than an alternative approach to CSR The concept is critically appraised from a societal perspective showing that CSV can be applied to benefit all but does not lead to shared value in itself In the second part of the dissertation an explorative study is conducted among energy suppliers and suppliers of outdoor equipment operating in the German market to find out whether Porter and Kramer s distinction between responsive and strategic CSR can be supported and whether CSV might deliver new options for the companies The study shows that companies are to a far degree concerned with responsive CSR and gives reason to embrace the idea that it depends on the corporation s product and business model whether the trend on CSR can be used strategically or has to be applied in a responsive manner The author introduces a management model putting into relation the concepts of CSR and CSV Plainly spoken CSR is considered the justification and underlying assumption while CSV is a management approach that can be applied to address corporate social responsibility
