Canadiana, 1991 Indigenizing the Cold War Sinae Hyun, 2023 The Border Patrol Police BPP of Thailand was formed as a United States CIA s paramilitary intelligence force in the early 1950s In the early 1960s changes in Thailand s political leadership and the US government s strategies for fighting the spread of communism in Southeast Asia led to a transformation of the BPP The organization became a civic action agency supported by the US Agency for International Development and the Thai monarchy Its civic actions pinned on advancing anticommunist modernization civilian counterinsurgency and royalist nationalism soon extended from the margins to the center of Thailand and contributed to building the border of Thainess khwam pen thai The growing tension between the royalist network consisting of military and rightwing groups and the democratization movements culminated in a massacre On October 6 1976 the Village Scout a rural vigilante group that the BPP created through its civic actions and the Police Aerial Reinforcement Unit PARU a subunit of the BPP attacked peaceful protesters at Thammasat University The success of a military coup on the same day solidified the victory of the royalist network and it would continue to dominate Thai politics and society into the post Cold War era Through a study of the Border Patrol Police s transformations Indigenizing the Cold War shows how the Thai ruling elite unflinchingly pursued their nation building With an introduction of the indigenization concept and an in depth analysis of postcolonial nation building this work challenges conventional Cold War studies The Cold War in Thailand was not always and only about an ideological conflict between the communist and anticommunist It was a war between the local ruling elite and the people each pushing forward their visions for constructing a new nation state The indigenization framework helps one to see the nature and impacts of the collaboration between global superpowers and the Asian local ruling elite it exposes an arrangement that took advantage of the American Cold War to legitimize and continue their authoritarian regimes
