Doing Environmental Ethics Robert Traer, 2018-04-17

Doing Environmental Ethics faces our ecological crisis by drawing on environmental science economic theory international law and religious teachings as well as philosophical arguments It engages students in constructing ethical presumptions based on arguments for duty character relationships and rights and then tests these moral presumptions by predicting the likely consequences of acting on them Students apply what they learn to policy issues discussed in the final part of the book sustainable consumption environmental policy clean air and water agriculture managing public lands urban ecology and climate change Questions after each chapter and a worksheet aid readers in deciding how to live more responsibly The second edition has been updated to reflect the latest developments in environmental ethics including sustainable practices of corporations environmental NGO actions and rainforest certification programs This edition also gives greater emphasis to environmental justice Rawls and ecofeminism Revised study questions concern application and analysis and new Decisions inserts invite students to analyze evaluate current environmental issues

The Use of Force in Humanitarian

Intervention John Janzekovic, 2017-11-30 Humanitarian intervention is a many layered and complex concept While moral society has an obligation to stop deliberate and persistent serious human rights abuse the direct use of force remains a contentious option alongside other strategies employed by the international community This study analyzes the various ethical positions particularly consequentialism welfare utilitarianism and just war theory to unravel this intricate topic Uniquely the book goes beyond previous philosophical or ethical treatments of the subject to provide a more rounded and practical reflection on the lessons learned from the revival of humanitarian intervention as a tool of conflict resolution

African Traditional Medicine: Autonomy and Informed Consent Peter Ikechukwu Osuji, 2014-07-18 This book focuses on informed consent in African Traditional Medicine ATM ATM forms a large portion of the healthcare systems in Africa WHO statistics show that as much as 80% of the population in Africa uses traditional medicine for primary health care With such a large constituency it follows that ATM and its practices should receive more attention in bioethics By comparing the ethics of care approach with the ATM approach to Relational Autonomy In Consent RAIC the authors argue that the ATM focus on consent based on consensus constitutes a legitimate informed consent This book is distinctive insofar as it employs the ethics of care as a hermeneutic to interpret ATM The analysis examines the ethics of care movement in Western bioethics to explore its relational approach to informed consent Additionally this is the first known study that discusses healthcare ethics committees in ATM

Ethics Barbara MacKinnon, 2001 Combining theory and issues with text and readings this ethics text begins with coverage of ethical theory utilitarianism Kant's moral theory natural law and virtue ethics It then goes on to discuss contemporary ethical issues ranging from personal ones such as sexual morality and euthanasia to matters of public policy such as legal punishment and international concerns such as war and peace and economic justice The Jurisdynamics of Environmental Protection Jim Chen,2003 On November 1 and 2 2002 the University of Minnesota Law School and the University of Minnesota's Consortium on Law and Values in Health Environment and the Life Sciences sponsored a symposium in honor of Professor Daniel A Farber's contributions to environmental law The resulting symposium The Pragmatic Ecologist Environmental Protection as a Jurisdynamic Experience was published in volume 87 of the Minnesota Law Review The Environmental Law Institute has now combined the proceedings of The Pragmatic Ecologist with additional contributions from many other leading scholars Environmental Ethics and Law Robert Jay Goldstein,2004 This collection explores a broad range of topics approaching environmental ethics from many different angles A common thread running through the volume is the analysis of ethical principles as the backbone of practical policies and law for the benefit of the environment and ultimately for the benefit of its inhabitants The contributors are all at the forefront of their respective fields and fall into two essential categories well established scholars in the field of environmental ethics and a group of newer voices that have followed what might be characterized as the first wave of environmental ethics scholarship Proceedings and Addresses of the American Philosophical Association American Philosophical Association,2006 List of members in v 1
