

Chapter 4: Algebraic Expressions and Equations

This chapter covers the fundamental concepts of algebra, including the manipulation of algebraic expressions and the solving of linear equations. It begins with the definition of algebraic expressions and the rules for adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing them. The chapter then moves on to the solving of linear equations, showing how to isolate the variable and find the solution. The final part of the chapter discusses the relationship between algebraic expressions and graphs, illustrating how to plot a line on a coordinate plane and how to interpret the slope and y-intercept.

Section 4.1: Algebraic Expressions

In this section, we define algebraic expressions and show how to simplify them. We start with the basic operations of addition and subtraction, then move on to multiplication and division. The distributive property is introduced as a key tool for simplifying expressions. Examples are provided for each operation, showing the step-by-step process of simplification.

We then discuss the concept of like terms and how to combine them. This is a crucial step in simplifying algebraic expressions. The section concludes with a series of exercises that reinforce the concepts of simplification and the use of the distributive property.

The next part of the section introduces the concept of factoring. We show how to factor out the greatest common factor (GCF) from an algebraic expression. This technique is essential for solving equations and simplifying fractions. Examples are provided for factoring out the GCF from various expressions.

The section ends with a summary of the key concepts and a set of review problems. These problems are designed to test the student's understanding of the material and to provide additional practice with algebraic expressions.
