Trans* in College Z Nicolazzo, 2023-07-03 WINNER of 2017 AERA DIVISION J OUTSTANDING PUBLICATION AWARD CHOICE 2017 Outstanding Academic Title This is both a personal book that offers an account of the author's own trans identity and a deeply engaged study of trans collegians that reveals the complexities of trans identities and how these students navigate the trans oppression present throughout society and their institutions create community and resilience and establish meaning and control in a world that assumes binary genders This book is addressed as much to trans students themselves offering them a frame to understand the genders that mark them as different and to address the feelings brought on by the weight of that difference as it is to faculty student affairs professionals and college administrators opening up the implications for the classroom and the wider campus This book not only remedies the paucity of literature on trans college students but does so from a perspective of resiliency and agency Rather than situating trans students as problems requiring accommodation this book problematizes the college environment and frames trans students as resilient individuals capable of participating in supportive communities and kinship networks and of developing strategies to promote their own success Z Nicolazzo provides the reader with a nuanced and illuminating review of the literature on gender and sexuality that sheds light on the multiplicity of potential expressions and outward representations of trans identity as a prelude to the ethnography she conducted with nine trans collegians that richly documents their interactions with and responses to environments ranging from the unwittingly offensive to explicitly antagonistic The book concludes by giving space to the study's participants to themselves share what they want college faculty staff and students to know about their lived experiences Two appendices respectively provide a glossary of vocabulary and terms to address commonly asked questions and a description of the study design offered as guide for others considering working alongside marginalized population in a manner that foregrounds ethics care and reciprocity

Truffles and Trash Kelly Alexander, 2024-10-25 On a fragile planet with spreading food insecurity food waste is a political and ethical problem Examining the collaborative sometimes scrappy institutional and community efforts to recuperate and redistribute food waste in Brussels Belgium Kelly Alexander reveals it is also an opportunity for new forms of sociality Her study plays out across a diverse set of locations including a food bank with ties to the EU a social restaurant serving low cost meals made from supermarket surplus by an emergent immigrant labor force and a social inclusion program in an urban market with a zero food waste pop up caf Alexander argues that these efforts in concert with innovative policy effectively recirculate wasted food to new publics and produce what she terms a spectrum of edibility According to Alexander these models face challenges including reproducing the very power dynamics across race class and citizenship status they seek to circumvent They also mirror the challenges of the everyday operations of the European social welfare state which is increasingly reliant on NGOs to meet provisioning promises Yet she finds that they also move the needle forward to reduce food waste across one city providing an example for major urban centers around the world

The role of carbon markets in preventing dangerous climate change Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee, 2010-02-08 Emissions trading is central to the Government's efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in the UK This inquiry examines the prospects for a global carbon market and the implications of this for further development of the European Union Emissions Trading System EU ETS It reviews the impact and future prospects for the EU ETS in meeting the Government's twin objectives of reducing emissions at lowest cost and setting a carbon price that delivers investment in low carbon technologies The EU ETS has emissions caps set too high to force emitters to make the often costly investment decisions which would reduce emissions The recession has only served to loosen what little constraint the cap provided The carbon price has been too low to encourage the necessary investment in low carbon processes and infrastructure The cap mechanism therefore needs to be significantly tightened This should be supported by cancelling new entrant reserve allowances and auctioning as many allowances as possible rather than giving them away for free with the revenues possibly hypothecated to climate change measures The Government should explore the possible use of a carbon tax It should also encourage more use of allowance auctions with reserve prices more use of incentives for low carbon power generation and emissions performance standards for electricity generation The emphasis should also be on harmonising the approach internationally and on extending effective emissions trading systems The Committee lists 19 conclusions and recommendations
