Editorial and authorial voices in EFL academic journal publishing Roger Nunn, John Adamson, 2012. This volume of work is intended as a natural successor to Accepting alternative voices in EFL journal articles (Nunn & Adamson, 2009) in which we looked into the possibilities of challenging the standard evaluation criteria and review procedure for EFL journal submissions to the Asian EFL Journal. Continuing this exploration into issues impacting upon academic publishing in EFL, chapters 2-6 pursue the issue of authorial voice where there seems to be an increasing consensus that a first person voice has a legitimate role beyond the humanities field. In chapters 7-9 the focus shifts to the wider perspectives of the journal reviewer or editor as researcher exploring issues which directly shape their academic world views. This is an essential step in recognizing that research is necessary to both raise awareness of journal staff about authorial voice in publishing, especially those of non-Anglophone scholars, and also about how reviewers and editors construct their own identity, how they perceive their responsibilities, and how they position the journals for which they work. (John Adamson)

The Researcher's Journey Klaus Solberg Söilen, 2025-07-01. Navigating the academic ecosystem involves a variety of challenges that extend beyond the application of research methods. These challenges include understanding the university structure, academic conferences, publication strategy, securing research funding, and how modern technologies like artificial intelligence have changed the very purpose of researchers. Written in an engaging and accessible tone, this book guides advanced and early career researchers through the real-world challenges that face academics in the social sciences. The book is divided into three parts: The first gives a brief history of the scientific method and social science research processes; the second critically addresses the current state of research methods in the social sciences; and the third discusses implications for ethics in light of scientific and technological advances.
