Student Name: Lourdes Hernandez

Title	Do you have congestive heart disease? Do you know when to seek medical attention?
Objective	Reduce primary heart disease deaths and hospitalizations.
Short-term goal	This brochure will provide patients with information about heart disease and its complications. After reading and understanding this brochure, patients can tell and explain to others the causes of the disease, how to improve their quality of life while fighting heart disease, and even when it is vital to seek medical attention.
Target population	Although this brochure is not exclusively aimed at a specific category of people, that rather has essential information for anyone who has been affected by the disease, it should be noted that our elderly population is the most vulnerable and affected by cardiovascular diseases.
Theory or model	Prevention
Topic	Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States.

Objective	Level of Prevention	Rationale	Outcome	Evaluation
Objective One: Following the brochure, the patient will identify at least 3 risk factors that it would increase possible hospitalizations.	Tertiary Prevention:	The patient with congestive heart failure distinguishing the different symptoms that require immediate medical attention demonstrates an adequate understanding of the lecture.	The brochure will straightforwardly have enough information to explain the symptoms of myocardial infarction and stroke, among others, the ones requiring immediate medical attention. For example, chest pain.	The evaluation process is initiated after the brochure lecture, and the best way to analyze their understanding is by the teach-back method. The patient must be able to explain everything to me.
