Program Overview

The Constitution is all around us. It affects each of us, every day. We are reminded of its most important documents in our daily lives, yet most people cannot remember what it says or the difference between the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Americans are known for standing up for their rights and ensuring their voices are heard, but where does this almost universal respect of the American people come from? It is a central part of our general make-up as Americans. So where, then, does this respect for rights first go general? It can be found in our founding papers and in our founding document, the Constitution.

In this video series, we are going to travel across the United States and find out more about what our founding fathers were thinking when they wrote the Constitution, how everyday Americans help define the words that were written on that parchment so long ago, and how our system works to interpret and protect this supreme law of our land. The writing of the Constitution began as a moment in time, but that conversation continues to get richer only when our voices are added to the mix.

Key Concepts for Episode 1

- Federalism: the system of shared power between national and state governments.
- States' rights: the doctrine that the states have sovereign powers equal to the national government.
- Nationalism: the supremacy of the federal government over the states.

Reflections

This debate over federalism, the system of shared power between national and state governments, continued throughout American history. Some argued to focus on states' rights, seeing that the states had sovereign powers equal to the federal government. Others defended nationalism, the supremacy of the federal government over the states.
