Art, History, and Postwar Fiction Kevin Brazil,2018-10-24 Art History and Postwar Fiction explores the ways in which novelists responded to the visual arts from the aftermath of the Second World War to the present day If art had long served as a foil to enable novelists to reflect on their craft this book argues that in the postwar period novelists turned to the visual arts to develop new ways of conceptualizing the relationship between literature and history The sense that the novel was becalmed in the end of history was pervasive in the postwar decades In seeming to bring modernism to a climax whilst repeating its foundational gestures visual art also raised questions about the relationship between continuity and change in the development of art In chapters on Samuel Beckett William Gaddis John Berger and W G Sebald and shorter discussions of writers like Doris Lessing Kathy Acker and Teju Cole this book shows that writing about art was often a means of commenting on historical developments of the period the Cold War the New Left the legacy of the Holocaust Furthermore it argues that forms of postwar visual art from abstraction to the readymade offered novelists ways of thinking about the relationship between form and history that went beyond models of reflection or determination By doing so this book also argues that attention to interactions between literature and art can provide critics with new ways to think about the relationship between literature and history beyond reductive oppositions between formalism and historicism autonomy and context

Museum and Gallery Publishing Sarah Hughes,2019-06-20 Museum and Gallery Publishing examines the theory and practice of general and scholarly publishing associated with museum and art gallery collections Focusing on the production and reception of these texts the book explains the relevance of publishing to the cultural commercial and social contexts of collections and their institutions Combining theory with case studies from around the world Sarah Anne Hughes explores how why and to what effect museums and galleries publish books Covering a broad range of publishing formats and organisations including heritage sites libraries and temporary exhibitions the book argues that the production and consumption of printed media within the context of collecting institutions occupies a unique and privileged role in the creation and communication of knowledge Acknowledging that books offer functions beyond communication Hughes argues that this places books published by museums in a unique relationship to institutions with staff acting as producers and visitors as consumers The logistical and ethical dimensions of museum and gallery publishing are also examined in depth including consideration of issues such as production the impact of digital technologies funding and sponsorship marketing co publishing rights and curators and artists agency Focusing on an important but hitherto neglected topic Museum and Gallery Publishing is key reading for researchers in the fields of museum heritage art and publishing studies It will also be of interest to curators and other practitioners working in museums heritage and science centres and art galleries
