Remembering Babylon New Edition:

Remembering Babylon David Malouf, 1993 David Malouf's novel shortlisted for the 1993 Booker Prize is a masterpiece. In the mid 1840s a thirteen year old boy is cast ashore in the far north of Australia and taken in by aborigines. Sixteen years later when settlers reach the area he moves back into the world of Europeans men and women who are staking out their small patch of security in an alien half mythological land hopeful yet terrified of what it might do to them David Malouf

Don Randall, 2013-07-19 Don Randall's comprehensive study situates Malouf within the field of contemporary international and postcolonial writing but without losing sight of the author's affiliation with Australian contexts. The book presents an original reading of Malouf finding the unity of his work in the continuity of his ethical concerns for Malouf human lives find their value in transformations specifically in instances of self overcoming that encounters with difference or otherness provoke. However the book is fully aware of and informed by the quite ample body of criticism on Malouf and thus provides readers with a broad based understanding of how Malouf's works have been received and assessed. It is an effective companion volume for studies in postcolonial or Australian literature for any study project in which Malouf figures prominently.

And the Birds Began to Sing Jamie S. Scott, 1996 Taking as its starting point the ambiguous heritage left by the British Empire to its former colonies dominions and possessions And the Birds Began to Sing marks a new departure in the interdisciplinary study of religion and literature. Gathered under the rubric Christianity and Colonialism essays on Brian Moore Timothy Findley Margaret Atwood and Marian Engel Thomas King Les A Murray David Malouf Mudrooroo and Philip McLaren R A K Mason Maurice Gee Keri Hulme Epeli Hau'ofa J M Coetzee Christopher Okigbo Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Ngugi wa Thiong'o explore literary portrayals of the effects of British Christianity upon settler and native cultures in Northern Ireland Canada Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific and the Africas. These essays share a sense of the dominant presence of Christianity as an inherited system of religious thought and practice to be adapted to changing post colonial conditions or to be resisted as the lingering ideology of colonial times. In the second section of the collection Empire and World Religions essays on Paule Marshall and George Lamming Jean Rhys Olive Senior and Caribbean poetry V S Naipaul Anita Desai Kamala Markandaya and Bharati Mukherjee interrogate literature exploring relations between the scions of British imperialism and religious traditions other than Christianity. Expressly concerned with literary embodiments of belief systems in post colonial cultures particularly West African religions in the Caribbean and Hinduism on the Indian subcontinent these essays also share a sense of Christianity as the pervasive presence of an ideological rhetoric among the economic social and political dimensions of imperialism. In a polemical Afterword the editor argues that modes of reading religion and literature in post colonial cultures are characterised by a theodical preoccupation with a praxis of equity.

The Lives of Stories Emma Dortins, 2018-12-05 The Lives of Stories traces three stories of Aboriginal settler friendships that intersect with the ways in which Australians remember founding national stories build narratives for cultural revival and work on reconciliation and self determination These three stories which are still being told with creativity and commitment by storytellers today are the story of James Morrill s adoption by Birri Gubba people and re adoption 17 years later into the new colony of Queensland the story of Bennelong and his relationship with Governor Phillip and the Sydney colonists and the story of friendship between Wiradjuri leader Windradyne and the Suttor family Each is an intimate story about people involved in relationships of goodwill care adoptive kinship and mutual learning across cultures and the strains of maintaining or relinquishing these bonds as they took part in the larger events that signified the colonisation of Aboriginal lands by the British Each is a story in which cross cultural understanding and misunderstanding are deeply embedded and in which the act of storytelling itself has always been an engagement in cross cultural relations The Lives of Stories reflects on the nature of story as part of our cultural inheritance and seeks to engage the reader in becoming more conscious of our own effect as history makers as we retell old stories with new meanings in the present and pass them on to new generations
