Arish Palm Leaf Architecture:

Arish Sandra Piesik,2012-01-01 Traditional buildings made from the leaves of date palms have provided shelter from the extreme climate of the Arabian peninsula for generations Just as bamboo is central to many forms of Asian vernacular constructions so is palm leaf in the United Arab Emirates and surrounding countries Arish Palm Leaf Architecture celebrates this unique indigenous building and craft tradition and provides the foundation for a genuine understanding of the region critical in the fast developing global economy Palm leaves have been used in ingenious ways to create habitable structures that have endured for decades In many regions this is referred to as Arish However with slick contemporary Western architecture now being used to promote the international stature of countries in the Gulf regions many of these localized techniques are being lost This book the product of a three year research programme provides a comprehensive overview of palm leaf architecture its history and traditions and includes y an overview in historical photographs y a comparison of regional variations in the United Arab Emirates y a focus on architectural and stylistic details y contemporary applications of palm leaf architecture y a resources section including a step by step introduction to the making of Arish from raw material to built form

Botanical Architecture Paul Dobraszczyk,2024-11-12 An original call to reorient architecture around our relationship to plants When we look at trees we see a form of natural architecture and yet we have seemingly always exploited trees to make new buildings of our own Whereas a tree creates its own structure humans generally destroy other things to build with increasingly disastrous consequences In Botanical Architecture Paul Dobraszczyk looks closely at how elements of plants seeds roots trunks branches leaves flowers and canopies compare with and constitute human made buildings Given the omnipresence of plant life in and around our structures Dobraszczyk argues that we ought to build as much for plants as for ourselves understanding that our lives are always totally dependent on theirs Botanical Architecture offers a provocative and original take on the relationship between ecology and architecture
