This study investigates the relationship between executive compensation, audit quality, and accrual and real earnings management in Jordan. While prior literature focuses on examining the impact of audit quality on accrual earnings management in Jordan, this study contributes to the literature by investigating the impact of executive compensation on real earnings management activities in Jordan. Further, this study contributes to the literature by investigating the impact of audit quality on real earnings management. By examining a Jordanian sample of 445 firm-year observations over the period from 2000 to 2011, this study presents new evidence that executive compensation is positively associated with accrual earnings management, suggesting that managers engage in accrual earnings management to increase reported earnings and, therefore, increase their pay-performance compensation. Further, the results show that managers who engaged in a higher level of real earnings management (via sales-based manipulation) received a lower level of compensation, suggesting that managers in Jordan are punished for the use of real activities. In terms of audit quality, the results show no evidence that audit quality is associated with accrual and real earnings management in Jordan. This study uses the corrected model of Jones (1991) as suggested by Dechow et al. (1995) to estimate normal accruals, while the models of Roychowdhury (2006) are used to estimate real earnings management activities.

1. INTRODUCTION

The aim of this paper is to examine the relationship between executive compensation, audit quality, and accrual and real earnings management in Jordan. Recent research has shown increased interest in exploring earnings management practices by Jordanian public firms (e.g. Abed et al., 2012; Hamdan et al., 2013; Abu Jebriil and Al-Thuneibat, 2016; Alcosabi, 2016; Alqatamin et al., 2017; Al-Shar' and Dongfang, 2017; Ibrahim and Al Awawdeh, 2017). However, to date, there has been very limited research that has examined whether executive compensation and audit quality are associated with earnings management practices. Further, while prior research has mainly focused on accrual earnings management, this study has extended the literature to examine real earnings management activities that undertaken by Jordanian public firms.

Evidence on the Relation between Audit and Earnings Quality. Do Clients of Higher Quality Auditors Provide Better Financial Reporting?, 2017-06-20 Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics Accounting and Taxes grade 1 3 language English abstract This paper studies the relation between audit and earnings quality It examines whether firms audited by a Big 4 member engage in higher earnings management activities as proxied by the magnitude of discretionary and absolute accruals as well as an income smoothing measure The author predicts that large auditors have higher competencies and incentives to deliver a higher quality audit Therefore their clients are expected to reveal less sophisticated earnings management and thus higher earnings quality The results do not support this relation Since standardsetters have been concerned about managers use of discretion to manage earnings in their financial reports an increasing amount of empirical research was conducted to address this issue additionally to regulation While independent auditors aim to assure that these statements are in accordance with legal compliance the actual audit quality can be grasped as the contingency that the auditor exposes and discloses an anomaly in their clients financial reports Whereas numerous audit scandals threaten the trustworthiness of well known large auditors there is various research revealing that Big N audited firms are supposed to disclose financial reports of higher quality Supplementing misguiding accrual accounting practices in this regard this study also addresses another proxy for earnings management income smoothing Burgstahler and Dichev 1997 explain corporate income smoothing with the fact that managers avoid revealing earning decreases and losses to diminish costs arising from transactions with stakeholders Similarly DeGeorge Patel and Zeckhauser 1999 show that managers smooth earnings to meet analysts forecasts On the other hand there are various contrary studies DeFond and Jimbalvo 1993 found that auditor client disagreements resulting from earnings management are more present in Big 4 audited firms They explain this with the properties of the common Big 4 clients For the reason of the ambiguous results it is interesting to study the effects and compare them with prior evidence to answer the question whether Big 4 auditors deliver higher quality in terms of a better financial reporting The terms are operationalized using a discretionary accruals and income smoothing measure and analyzed for non Big 4 audited UK firms in the period 2005 2011

Earnings Management, Conservatism, and Earnings Quality Ralf Ewert, Alfred Wagenhofer, 2012 Earnings Management Conservatism and Earnings Quality reviews and illustrates earnings management conservatism and their effects on earnings quality in an economic modeling framework Both earnings management and conservative accounting introduce biases to financial reports The fundamental issue addressed is what economic effects these biases have on earnings quality or financial reporting quality Earnings Management Conservatism and Earnings Quality reviews analytical models of earnings management and conservatism and shows that both can have beneficial or detrimental economic effects so a differentiated view is appropriate Earnings management can provide additional information via the financial reporting communication channel but it can also be used to misrepresent the firm's position What the authors find is that similar to earnings management conservatism can reduce the information content of financial reports if it suppresses relevant information but it can be a desirable feature that improves economic efficiency The approach to study earnings management conservatism and earnings quality is based on the information economics literature A variety of analytical models are reviewed that capture the effects and subtle interactions of managers incentives and rational expectations of users The benefit of analytical models is to make precise these often highly complex strategic effects They offer a rigorous explanation for the phenomena and show that sometimes conventional wisdom does not apply The monograph is organized around a few basic model settings which are presented in simple versions first and then in extensions to elicit the main insights most clearly Chapter 2 presents the basic rational expectations equilibrium model with earnings management and rational inferences by the capital market Chapter 3 is devoted to earnings quality and earnings quality metrics used in many studies Chapter 4 studies conservatism in accounting Finally the authors examine the interaction between conservatism and earnings management Each chapter ends with a section containing a summary of the main findings and conclusions

The Effect of Audit Quality on Earnings Management Connie L. Becker, 1997 This study examines the relation between audit quality and earnings management Consistent with prior research we treat audit quality as a dichotomous variable and assume that Big Six auditors are of higher quality than non Big Six auditors Earnings management is captured by discretionary accruals that are estimated using a cross sectional version of the Jones 1991 model Prior literature suggests that auditors are more likely to object to management's accounting choices that increase earnings as opposed to decrease earnings and that auditors are more likely to be sued when they are associated with financial statements that overstate earnings as compared to understate earnings Therefore we hypothesize that clients of non Big Six auditors report discretionary accruals that increase income relatively more than the discretionary accruals reported by clients of Big Six auditors This hypothesis is supported by evidence from a sample of 10 379 Big Six and 2 179 non Big Six firm years Specifically clients of non Big Six auditors report discretionary accruals that are on average 1.5 to 2.1 percent of total assets higher than the discretionary accruals reported by clients of Big Six auditors Also consistent with earnings management we find that the mean and median of the absolute value of discretionary accruals are greater for firms with non Big Six auditors This also indicates that lower audit quality is associated with more "accounting flexibility"

Auditing, 2008 Audit Quality and Earnings Management in France Charles Piot, 2015 This paper investigates the effect of audit quality variables on abnormal accruals in the French context The sample comprises 255 firm years observations from SBF 120 Index companies 1999 2001 Abnormal accruals are estimated using a Jones cross sectional Model as well as a CFO Model Jones Model controlling for cash flows They are considered in signed value as a proxy for accounting conservatism and in absolute value as a proxy for the overall earnings management regardless of income increasing or decreasing incentives Multivariate analyses document that 1 the presence of a Big Five auditor has no effect on the magnitude of abnormal accruals whether considered in signed or absolute value 2 the presence of an audit committee but not the committee s independence is associated with lower signed abnormal accruals suggesting more conservative accounting earnings and 3 in contradiction with positive accounting predictions leverage has a negative effect on signed abnormal accruals Implications of these findings are discussed in the French setting with respect to notably the lower litigation risk of auditors vs the US litigation system the recommendations on audit committees the duties of corporate directors and the traditionally significant role of accounting in the protection of debtholders interests Management Sciences Review ,2011 APMR ,2003 Aanwinsten van de Centrale Bibliotheek (Queteletfonds) Bibliothèque centrale (Fonds Quetelet),2001 CA Magazine ,2008 JOURNAL OF Accounting & Economics ,2004 Gadjah Mada International Journal of Business ,2011 The International Journal of Accounting ,2004
