

AWWA C906-15

New Standard, New Opportunities

The passage of American Water Works Association (AWWA) C906-15 on Sept. 8 is greeted by the polyethylene pipe industry. It's a testament to what we do and there are significant benefits to the new standard that will help open up new opportunities.

Here are some of the main highlights of AWWA C906-15:

- Lowest price alternative for new piping systems: has a very limited equipment footprint for water transmission systems to give Speed-CPEX systems guaranteed 2-hour free application to system owners and designers from the start of the project through the life of the pipeline.
- The standard now covers all sizes from 4" through 84" diameter pipe. Previously the standard only covered through 60" pipe.
- The standard improves the performance capabilities of the current high-performance polyethylene resin. Many of the performance properties of these resins are orders of magnitude greater than previous resins. By meeting by these performance properties, you will have confidence in a safety factor that's greater than or equal to 2.
- Based on these properties, this revision allows the use of a larger internal diameter (ID) pipe. Although the same pressure class and outside diameter (OD) competing pipe materials. For example, previously a 12" OD 11 pipe was rated at 100 psi. Under the new rules, a 12" OD 11 pipe made to C906-15 is rated at the same 100 psi. The larger internal diameter means increased flow capacity of the pipe making CPEX even more competitive with other resins.
- Consistently by engineering the same OD, the pressure rating for 12" OD 11 pipe made to C906-15 will now have a 20% increase.

Details written about the recognition of the pipe industry's contribution to the new infrastructure will be required to get up a pipe that will have the ability to use better and pipe with a higher flow rate. This change will be changing fast for the PE industry because many municipalities require PE pipe, unlike other competing pipe materials, to be replaced. This is because CPEX is a distributed system which allows agencies and existing contracts to be replaced without the expense of a new pipe. PE can provide a lot of benefits to the industry. There is no other pipe material that has been designed to have a long life span and a good economic performance. It's a great way to get the industry and economic impact of infrastructure. It's a great way to get the industry.

C906-15 was published in the August issue of the AWWA journal and was also featured in Water magazine. You can find more information about this article at www.awwa.org.
