Hello World Where Design Meets Life:

Hello World Alice Rawsthorn, 2014-02-06 Our gadgets appliances and cars are sleeker and more elegant than they ever been in our free time we trawl the internet for pictures of flawless minimalist interiors and even the great industrialist of our time Steve Jobs is admired more for his visual savvy than his technological inventiveness And yet with Instagram and Pinterest at our fingers and great design more available and more affordable than ever we've had no guidebook to this ever fascinating field Though it's an inescapable part of our lives there has been no single book that could in one fell swoop tell us everything we need to know about design Enter Hello World The design critic for the International Herald Tribune Alice Rawsthorn has spent many years reckoning with the history of design and with its place in contemporary life and Hello World is the extraordinary summation of her research and reporting Rawsthorn takes us on a trip through design that ranges across continents and centuries and wherever she goes she discovers inspiring thrilling examples of resourcefulness inventiveness and sheer vision From the macabre symbol with which eighteenth century pirates terrorized their victims into surrender to one woman's quest for the best prosthetic legs to the evolution of the World Cup soccer ball Hello World describes how warlords scientists farmers hackers activists and professional designers have used the complex often elusive process of design to different ends throughout history Hailed as a rapid fire and illuminating ode to contemporary design Telegraph and an extremely readable tour of the subject Financial Times Hello World is a major work that radically broadens our understanding of what design can mean and explains how we can use it to make sense of our ever changing universe

How to be a Craftivist Sarah P. Corbett, 2017-10-05 How to Be a Craftivist is a manifesto for quiet activism how to tackle issues not with shouting and aggression but with gentle protest using the process of making to engage thoughtfully in the issues we are about to influence and effect change Sarah Corbett professional campaigner and founder of the Craftivist Collective shares her journey from burnt out activist tired of marching confrontation and demonizing opposition towards a more respectful activism using craft to contemplate global issues provoke thought and start conversations rather than arguments to engage empower and encourage people on and offline to become part of change in the face of injustice inequality and prejudice Interwoven with Sarah's personal stories of causes fought are ideas and suggestions for every novice craftivist From how to think about the medium itself to looking at colour fonts size and message here is inspiration for every detail of your creation In today's world it's easy to feel helpless but here is a book to initiate debates rather than shouting matches to enable collaboration in place of confrontation Gentleness can be a great strength and quiet action can sometimes speak as powerfully amid the noise as the loudest voice And if we want a world that is beautiful kind and fair shouldn't our activism be beautiful kind and fair
