Transcending Taboos Garry Young, Monica T. Whitty, 2012 Cyberspace is composed of a multitude of different spaces where users can represent themselves in many divergent ways Why in a video game is it more acceptable to murder or maim than rape After all in each case it is only pixels that are being assaulted This book avoids wrestling with the common question of whether the virtual violation of real world taboos is right or wrong and instead provides a theoretical framework that helps us understand why such distinctions are typically made and explores the psychological impact of violating offline taboos within cyberspace The authors discuss such online areas as Reality sites depicting taboo images Social networking websites and online chatrooms Online dating websites Video game content This book considers whether there are some interactions that should not be permissible even virtually It also examines how we might be able to cope with the potential moral freedoms afforded by cyberspace and who might be vulnerable to such freedoms of action and representation within this virtual space This book is ideal for researchers and students of internet psychology philosophy and social policy as well as therapists those interested in computer science law media and communication studies Opening the Red Door Hae-Jin

Choe,2022-04-14 Many second generation Korean Americans SGKAs are living lives of marginality on the edge of Korean American and American cultures This double life often leads to heightened mental health concerns The rise of Asian hate crimes in this country in recent months have added to the distress in this population Due to cultural stigma however SGKAs may not seek out counseling or other mental health services If they do their unique cultural formation is often not fully addressed impeding growth and healing Red Door Ministry RDM a pastoral counseling center that started at a local Korean American church serves as a model for addressing this issue Built from a postcolonial understanding of third space RDM is constructed with various culturally sensitive elements that allow SGKAs to move from places of shame on the margins to empowered new centers This transformation is examined by four in depth interviews of RDM clients These clients show that healing and empowerment were possible because their complex cultural hybridity was addressed in the process of counseling This process is analyzed using concepts from Western psychological theories Korean American theology and postcolonial theory

Francis of Assisi as Artist of the Spiritual Life Andrew T. McCarthy,2010-08-13 Francis of Assisi as Artist of the Spiritual Life applies modern psychological understanding to a historical person While most such studies have sought a comprehensive personality profile this work focuses on one aspect Francis imagination and seeks greater insight into the imaginatively inspired spiritual vision of St Francis An analysis of Francis writings builds on a survey of modern views of the imagination and the approach of ORT or Object Relations Theory ORT with its contention that the imaginative creation of an infant s world develops out of the earliest interactions with the maternal caregiver highlights the way Francis formed his way of visualizing the reality around him While any study of a person 800 years in the grave is more dependent on what is plausible than on what is determinable this study finds numerous examples where Francis writings display an adept use of imagination and even encourages others in that use in a manner that corresponds to an ORT perspective on tutoring the imagination

American Journal of Psychotherapy ,1947 Recognizing the Romantic Novel Jillian

Heydt-Stevenson,Charlotte Sussman,2008 The Romantic era was a vibrant and exciting time in the history of the novel Yet aside from a few iconic books for example Pride and Prejudice or Frankenstein it has been ignored or dismissed by later readers and critics Bringing this rich but neglected body of works to the fore Recognizing the Romantic Novel challenges us to rethink our ideas of the novel as a genre as well as our long held assumptions about the literary movement of Romanticism

BOOK JACKET Women, Knowledge, and Reality Ann Garry,1989 This second edition of Women Knowledge and Reality continues to exhibit the ways in which feminist philosophers enrich and challenge philosophy Essays by twenty five feminist philosophers seventeen of them new to the second edition address fundamental issues in philosophical and feminist methods

metaphysics epistemology and the philosophies of science language religion and mind body This second edition expands the perspectives of women of color of postmodernism and French feminism and focuses on the most recent controversies in feminist theory and philosophy The chapters are organized by traditional fields of philosophy and include introductions which contrast the ideas of feminist thinkers with traditional philosophers The collected essays illustrate both the depth and breadth of feminist critiques and the range of contemporary feminist theoretical perspectives Cultural Revolutions Lawrence E. Cahoon, 2007-05-02 In this probing examination of the meaning and function of culture in contemporary society Lawrence Cahoon argues that reason itself is cultural but no less reasonable for it While recent political and philosophical movements have recognized that cognition the self and politics are embedded in culture most fail to appreciate the deep changes in rationalism and liberal theory this implies others leap directly into relativism and nearly all fail to define culture Cultural Revolutions systematically defines culture gauges the consequences of the ineradicably cultural nature of cognition and action yet argues that none of this implies relativism After showing where other new culturalists have gone wrong Cahoon offers his own definition of culture as teleologically organized practices artifacts and narratives and analyzes the notion of cultural membership in relation to race ethnicity and primordialism He provides a theory of culture's role in how we form our sense of reality and argues that the proper conception of culture dissolves the problem of cultural relativism Applying this perspective to Islamic fundamentalism Cahoon identifies its conflict with the West as representing the break between two of three historically distinctive forms of reason Rather than being irrational he shows fundamentalism embodies a rationality only recently devalued but not entirely abandoned by the West The persistence of plural forms of reason suggests that modernization in various world cultures is compatible with continued even magnified cultural differences

On Art and Therapy Martina Thomson, 1997 The term art therapy was coined when it was recognized that painting drawing and modelling had healing effects on people The early practitioners saw themselves as facilitators in setting free a spontaneous imaginative activity In this text the author makes a plea for the therapist to return to a trust in the therapeutic value of the creative process itself Drawing on her memories of working with some of the pioneers of art therapy and on her own experience as a painter and as an art therapy practitioner her argument surfaces through observation speculation case history and quotations from artists poets and analysts The Publishers Weekly, 1972 A Living Education Lynn Allison Englund, 2005 William Carlos Williams Review, 1985 A Study of George MacDonald and the Image of Woman David Holbrook, 2000 This study examines the theory that MacDonald wrote his fantasies out of his private inner world It throws light on the association in the human mind between woman and death Wallflowers Michael Donaghy, 1999 Spirituality and the Secular Quest Peter Higbie Van Ness, 1996 Eminent scholars shed light on the beliefs and practices of large numbers of people who describe themselves as spiritual even though they acknowledge no strong bond of doctrine or community with any historical religion Topics covered include feminism environmentalism gay
