These "best minds" are Ginsberg's friends, literary associates, and acquaintances - all of those that would become associated with the Beat generation, and they are collectively the protagonists of the story that "Howl" attempts to tell in a broken, stream of consciousness style.

It is worth reflecting on why Ginsberg believed these people to be the "best minds" of his generation. These were still the "best minds" for Ginsberg because they were outside of the group think that characterized the domestic, militaristic, unthinking patriotism of the time. Their minds were not captured by America's hegemonic culture. They were able to think outside of these restraints and were,
