  - more focused on religion rather than political liberty.
  - larger and more prosperous economically.
  - afflicted with incompetent leadership.
- What did Massachusetts governor John Winthrop mean when he said, "We shall be as a city upon a hill"?
  - He envisioned the Massachusetts Bay Company as becoming the most economically successful British colony.
  - He hoped that the colony would become a holy society that would serve as a model for people elsewhere.
  - He was referring to Boston as the city where elite, wealthy, and well-educated people would settle and set an example for other colonies.
  - He was describing Boston as the seat of English colonial government.
  - He intended the colony to provide public education for all citizens and believed that an educated populace was the key to success in all colonies.
- King Philip's War could best be described as
  - an uprising of poor farmers against wealthy plantation owners.
  - the colonial conflict resulting from the European War of Spanish Succession.
  - the first of a series of wars between the English and French colonies of North America.
  - an early revolt by enslaved Africans in southern colonies.
  - a conflict between Native Americans and New England settlers.
- The middle colonies—New York, New Jersey, Delaware, and Pennsylvania—all had which of the following traits in common?
  - Rich, fertile soil that enabled the region to produce and export vast quantities of grain.
  - A population that was less ethnically and religiously mixed than other regions.
  - Soil that was typically rocky and often difficult to farm.
  - Landholdings that were generally small in size.
  - Free industries or port cities for trade with England and other colonies.
