

8. Ecology

Hydrology concerns itself with three forms of water –

1. Above land as atmospheric water or precipitation.
2. On land or surface as stored water or runoff
3. Below the land surface as ground water or percolation

The Importance of Hydrology is seen in-

1. Design of Hydraulic Structures: - Structures such as bridges, causeways, dams, spillways etc. are in contact with water. Accurate hydrological predictions are necessary for their proper functioning. Due to a storm, the flow below a bridge has to be properly predicted. Improper prediction may cause failure of the structure. Similarly the spillway in case of a dam which is meant for disposing excess water in a dam should also be designed properly otherwise flooding water may overtop the dam.
2. Municipal and Industrial Water supply: - Growth of towns and cities and also industries around them is often dependent on fresh water availability in their vicinity. Water should be drawn from rivers, streams, ground water. Proper estimation of water resources in a place will help planning and implementation of facilities for municipal (domestic) and industrial water supply.
3. Irrigation: - Dams are constructed to store water for multiple uses. For estimating maximum storage capacity seepage, evaporation and other losses should be properly estimated. These can be done with proper understanding of hydrology of a given river basin and thus making the irrigation project a successful one. Artificial recharge will also increase ground water storage. It has been estimated that ground water potential of Gangetic basin is 40 times more than its surface flow.
4. Hydroelectric Power Generation: - A hydroelectric power plant need continuous water supply without much variations in the stream flow. Variations will affect the functioning of turbines in the electric plant. Hence proper estimation of river flow and also flood occurrences will help to construct efficient balancing reservoirs and these will supply water to turbines at a constant rate.
