Music To Move The Stars A Life With Stephen Hawking:

Hawking Hawking Charles Seife, 2021-04-06 Stephen Hawking was widely recognized as the world's best physicist and even the most brilliant man alive but what if his true talent was self-promotion? When Stephen Hawking died he was widely recognized as the world's best physicist and even its smartest person. He was neither. In Hawking science journalist Charles Seife explores how Stephen Hawking came to be thought of as humanity's greatest genius. Hawking spent his career grappling with deep questions in physics but his renown didn't rest on his science. He was a master of self-promotion, hosting parties for time travelers, declaring victory over problems he had not solved, and wooing billionaires. In a wheelchair and physically dependent on a cadre of devotees, Hawking still managed to captivate the people around him and use them for his own purposes. A brilliant exposé and powerful biography, Hawking uncovers the authentic Hawking buried underneath the fake. It is the story of a man whose brilliance in physics was matched by his genius for building his own myth.

Music to Move the Stars Jane Hawking, 1999 Jane Hawking, divorced wife of Professor Stephen Hawking and mother of his three children, has written a memoir which relates the story of a marriage begun in optimism despite facing the terrible odds of motor neurone disease and of its gradual decline which became inescapably apparent as Hawking's academic career and renown began to soar. Jane Hawking writes of her marriage and remembers the vigorous young man with whom she fell in love prior to the onset of his debilitating motor neurone disease. Moreover, she tells of the difficulties of looking after a wheelchair-bound husband and three small children, all demanding attention 24 hours a day. These experiences, coupled with the author's evident inner strength, can offer inspiration to others faced with a similar family situation. The collapse of the high-profile Hawking marriage, provoked by Stephen's affair with a nurse, is related in honest detail, and Jane's recent re-marriage to an old family friend offers the hope of happy endings to a life of struggle and alienation. A Hundred Letters

Hawking was diagnosed with motor neurone disease at the age of 21 and was expected to live for only another two years. He went on to write books and deliver public lectures right up until his death at the age of 76 in 2018. Hawking achieved commercial success with several works of popular science in which he discusses his own theories and cosmology in general. His book A Brief History of Time, a layman's guide to cosmology, appeared on the Sunday Times best-seller list for a record-breaking 237 weeks and sold more than 10 million copies.
