Secondary Education In Tanzania Key Policy Challenges:

Schooling as Uncertainty Frances Vavrus,2021-01-28 In today's uncertain world few beliefs remain as firmly entrenched as the optimistic view that more schooling will lead to a better life Though this may be true in the aggregate how do we explain the circumstances when schooling fails to produce certainty or even does us harm Schooling as Uncertainty addresses this question by combining ethnography and memoir as it guides readers on a 30 year journey through fieldwork and familyhood in Tanzania and academic life in the USA Using reflexive longitudinal ethnographic research the book examines how African youth particularly young women employ schooling in an attempt to counter the uncertainties of marriage child rearing employment and HIV AIDS Adopting a narrative approach Vavrus tells the story of how her life became entangled with a community on Mount Kilimanjaro and how she and they sought greater security through schooling and to varying degrees succeeded

Multilingual Learning and Language Supportive Pedagogies in Sub-Saharan Africa Elizabeth J. Erling,John Clegg,Casmir M. Rubagumya,Colin Reilly,2021-07-01 This edited collection provides unprecedented insight into the emerging field of multilingual education in Sub Saharan Africa SSA Multilingual education is claimed to have many benefits amongst which are that it can improve both content and language learning especially for learners who may have low ability in the medium of instruction and are consequently struggling to learn The book represents a range of Sub Saharan school contexts and describes how multilingual strategies have been developed and implemented within them to support the learning of content and language It looks at multilingual learning from several points of view including translanguaging or the use of multiple languages and especially African languages for learning and language supportive pedagogy or the implementation of a distinct pedagogy to support learners working through the medium of a second language The book puts forward strategies for creating materials classroom environments and teacher education programmes which support the use of all of a student's languages to improve language and content learning The contexts which the book describes are challenging including low school resourcing poverty and low literacy in the home and school policy which militates against the use of African languages in school The volume also draws on multilingual education approaches which have been successfully carried out in higher resource countries and lend themselves to being adapted for use in SSA It shows how multilingual learning can bring about transformation in education and provides inspiration for how these strategies might spread and be further developed to improve learning in schools in SSA and beyond Chapter 3 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com>

Educational Assessment in Tanzania Joyce Kahembe,Liz Jackson,2020-11-04 This book examines teachers' conceptions and practices of assessment in Tanzania Adopting a sociocultural perspective it reveals how Tanzanian teachers understand the role of assessment in relation to their classroom practices community and other factors The book determines that although teachers in Tanzania generally consider assessment to be useful for evaluating and monitoring learning improving student performance and for accountability their assessment practices are rarely seen as directly supporting student learning it is not that teachers do not know how to implement the mandated assessment reforms Instead they are reluctant to adopt and embrace the reforms because they consider them to be contradictory to their teaching roles and overly burdensome if not implausible given the physical economic and cultural contexts of teaching and learning This book argues that improving traditional assessments rather than radically transforming them can be more effective for cultivating practices that suit the physical political economic and cultural contexts of Tanzanian schools Highlighting the significance of sociocultural factors in educators professional practices while also illustrating the major challenges in implementing global reform agendas in diverse contexts it is a valuable resource for educators and scholars interested in development and educational reform in African contexts

Teaching in Tension Frances Vavrus, Lesley Bartlett, 2013-06-13 In recent years international efforts to improve educational quality in sub Saharan Africa have focused on promoting learner centered pedagogy However it has not flourished for cultural economic and political reasons that often go unrecognized by development organizations and policymakers This edited volume draws on a long term collaboration between African and American educational researchers in addressing critical questions regarding how teachers in one African country Tanzania conceptualize learner centered pedagogy and struggle to implement it under challenging material conditions One chapter considers how international support for learner centered pedagogy has influenced national policies Subsequent chapters utilize qualitative data from classroom observations interviews and focus group discussions across six Tanzanian secondary schools to examine how such policies shape local practices of professional development inclusion gender and classroom discourse In addition the volume presents an analysis of the benefits and challenges of international research between Tanzanian and U S scholars illuminating the complexity of collaboration as it simultaneously presents the outcome of joint research on teachers beliefs and practices The chapters conclude with questions for discussion that can be used in courses on international development social policy and teacher education This volume written by a multi national team of scholar practitioners makes an important contribution to our understanding of learner centered teaching and collaborative educational research Based on an intensive investigation in Tanzania of a professional development program and teachers efforts to conceptualize and implement a globally promoted pedagogical approach the authors illustrate and critically analyze how these practices are enabled and constrained by cultural lenses power relations and material conditions Importantly they also examine reflexively how cultural power and resource issues shaped their struggle to engage in a collective praxis of qualitative inquiry The tensions referenced in the title sparked valuable insights which will be useful to educators researchers and policy makers Mark Ginsburg FHI 360 and Teachers College Columbia University
