- Database: A collection of related data organized in a way that allows for easy access, retrieval, and use.
- Table: A collection of related data organized in rows and columns.
- Primary Key: A unique identifier for each record in a table.
- Foreign Key: A field in one table that refers to the primary key of another table.
- Relationship: A connection between two or more tables based on common fields.

Database Design

The process of creating a database structure that meets the requirements of a specific application. It involves identifying the data needed, determining the relationships between the data, and designing the tables and fields.

Normalization

A process of organizing data into tables to reduce redundancy and improve data integrity. It involves breaking down large tables into smaller, related tables and defining the relationships between them.

Query Languages

Tools used to interact with a database, such as SQL (Structured Query Language) and DDL (Data Definition Language).
