This publication notes that the most effective policies for supporting human development and reducing vulnerabilities are those that incorporate principles of universalism by placing people at the centre of policy Responding to life cycle and structural vulnerabilities through social investments and policy interventions deliver long term benefits by reducing vulnerabilities at critical life phases and mitigating structural disadvantage faced by discriminated groups in society Yet the emerging challenges and risks posed by vulnerability given the backdrop of globalisation require a concerted approach and collective action that will measure up to the scale of these shared challenges In building this argument this companion volume to the 2014 Human Development Report draws on research commissioned from eminent economists demographers and social scientists A Common Vision for Uncommon Results Katrina Manson,2009 Violence Against Women Lori Heise,Jacqueline Pitanguy,Adrienne Germain,World Bank,1994 The World Bank Research Observer ,2007 The OECD DAC Handbook on Security System Reform Supporting Security and Justice OECD,2008-02-27 The OECD DAC

Umrabulo ,2003 Living Across Worlds Ninna Nyberg Sørensen,International Organization for Migration,2007 The research presented in this volume is based on case studies from around the world to examine how migration influences development The studies reveal that it is seldom the simple act of migrating but rather the conditions under which migration takes place that determine the developmental impact of migration Rather than dwelling on normative discussions about whether migration should contribute to development whether remittances should be put to more developmental uses whether return should be promoted or whether development cooperation should engage in collaborative efforts with migrant and refugee diasporas this study focuses on the questions policymakers and practitioners should consider when making background analyses for such decisions
